A MOTHER'S DAY REWARD — Little Anne Hays, 3, presents her mother, Mrs. John Hays, 1703 South Warren, a large box containing a mother's day gift. The scene is typical of those taking place all during the last week when many school-aged children deluged mothers with little tokens of affection made in classrooms. Mrs. Hays, a teacher herself, has had a role in such preparations by young students just as her husband has. Mr. Hays is principal at Whittier School. (Democrat-Capital photo)

Rebel Regime Denounces Junta Put Out As Rival Administration

Every Indication US Backed Its Creation

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The rebel regime denounced Saturday as "completely unacceptable" a new civilian-military junta put forward as a rival administration in the strife-torn Dominican Republic.

There was every indication here that the new junta group had been created with U.S. backing.

Even as a rebel spokesman charged that the establishment of the junta violated the cease-fire, another U.S. Marine was killed and three paratroopers were wounded by rebel sniper fire.

The deaths brought the number of American fighting men officially listed as killed here to 13. Seventy-five American soldiers have been wounded.

By Defense Department count, U.S. military strength in the Dominican Republic stood at 21,800 men Saturday, a jump of 2,500 in the past four days.

The United States carefully shunned formal recognition of the "new government." U.S. officials told newsmen in Washington it would be premature for the United States to recognize a Dominican regime when the Organization of American States already has begun work on the political problem.

Observers in Santo Domingo believe, however, that the five-man junta was organized largely through the efforts of John Bartlow Martin, former U.S. ambassador to the Dominican Republic.

He has been in frequent conference with the rebel regime of Col. Francisco Caamano Deno and with Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, named as president of the new junta created Friday night.

The secretary-general of the OAS, Jose A. Mora, met with Caamano in Santo Domingo on Saturday afternoon and then told newsmen the cease-fire "will be imposed" on both sides if necessary. But he did not say how.

The OAS so far has not received assurance from the rebels that the cease-fire will be honored with the new junta, Mora added.

Mighty Blow Hurled On Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The United States hurled its mightiest air blow of the war at Communist North Viet Nam on Saturday. A military spokesman said at least 242 warplanes rained 300 tons of bombs and rockets on an airfield, military barracks and warehouses, road convoys and railroad boxcars.

U.S. Air Force and Navy carrier pilots reported seeing many secondary explosions and raging fires as they turned for home.

Communist antiaircraft fire downed two U.S. Navy Crusader jets. One pilot parachuted into the sea and was rescued; the other apparently perished as his plane plunged into the mouth of the Song Ca River, 20 miles east of the Red military air base at Vinh.

Hanoi radio claimed that the North Vietnamese brought down five U.S. fighter planes, including one jet. It said this report was based on initial information.

In all, the planes, which included Navy A4 jet Skyhawks, F8 Crusaders and propeller-driven Skyraiders as well as U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs, fanned out over Communist territory in eight separate attacks.

The previous most massive attack by U.S. planes on the North was in a series of raids by 220 Air Force and Navy planes April 9.

Two of the attacks were against the military air field at Vinh, about 160 miles south of Hanoi, the Communist capital. These were the heaviest raids of the day. On each of the strikes 40 attack bombers were covered by 30 support planes, mostly fighter interceptors, military spokesmen said.

Drowns In Canoe

ST. CLAIR, Mo. (AP)—Terry Weaver, 19, of St. Louis, drowned Saturday in the Meramec River when his canoe overturned near St. Clair.

Two youths in another boat saw Weaver's canoe overturn, but their rescue attempts were unsuccessful. The body of the youth, who was alone, was recovered about six hours later.

The Weather

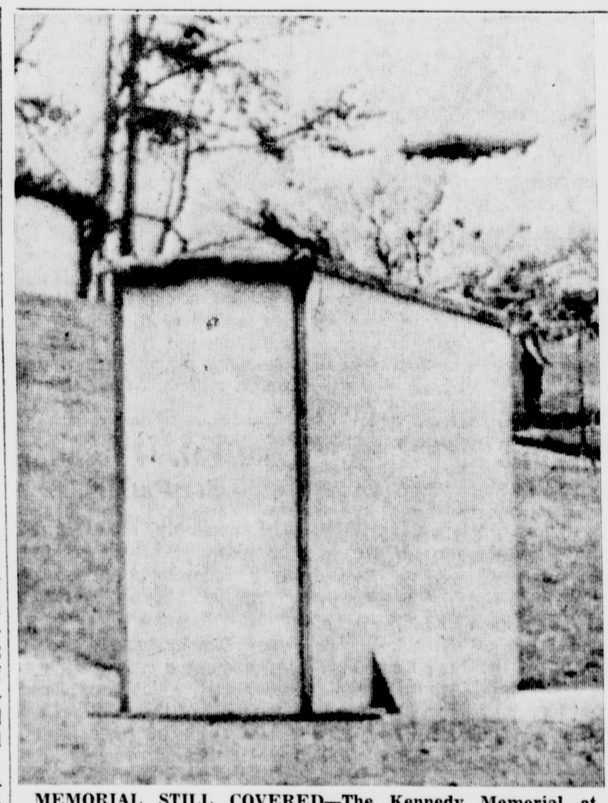
Cloudy with showers or thunderstorms Sunday forenoon. Clearing and cooler Sunday night. Monday generally fair. High Sunday in the 70s.



MEMORIAL STILL COVERED—The Kennedy Memorial at Runnymede, England remains boxed-in until May 14 when unveiling ceremonies will be held. Queen Elizabeth will perform the dedication. The President's widow and two children will attend the ceremony, held on the site of King John's signing of the Magna Carta, 750 years ago. (UPI Telephoto)

Standby Force Is Needed

To Deal With Any New Crisis Like That In Dominican

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk urged Saturday that the Organization of American States consider setting up a standby military force and political machiney able to deal instantly with any future Western Hemisphere crisis like that in the Dominican Republic.

The Dominican crisis has shown, Rusk said in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press, that the OAS is not presently organized to keep pace with the speed of actual events.

He replied to a series of questions submitted and answered in writing.

His replies developed the U.S. government's view that both the rescue operation, originally announced for U.S. forces, and the political mission of blocking an asserted Communist plan to seize the country, had to be carried out with a speed impossible for the OAS to achieve as it is now set up.

The Dominican rebellion broke out April 24 and President Johnson sent in U.S. Marines on April 28. Additional troop reinforcements have now raised the number to about 21,800.

Johnson declared last Sunday night in discussing Communist involvement in the Dominican rebel movement that the United States would not allow the establishment of another Communist government in this hemisphere.

The United States had not sent troops into a Latin-American country in a generation. The last Marines on Latin-American soil were withdrawn by President Franklin D. Roosevelt as he developed his "good neighbor policy" in the hemisphere.

Q. When the decision was being made to send U.S. Marines into the Dominican Republic last week, was consideration given to the fact that this would break a precedent dating back about half a century?

A. The gravity of the decision to send U.S. Marines into the Dominican Republic was fully appreciated. It was not, however, an action which broke "a precedent dating back about half a century."

To Commemorate V-E Day

East German And Soviet Troops Stage Big Parade

BERLIN (AP) — East German and Soviet troops staged a mammoth parade Saturday in East Berlin commemorating the 20th anniversary of Hitler's defeat, bringing a protest from the Western powers.

In identical letters, the U.S. French and British ambassadors to West Germany told the Soviet envoy in East Berlin the Soviet Union violated the status of Berlin by letting the East Germans parade.

The parade of 5,000 troops included Russian missiles. The letters said "The Soviet missile displays themselves contributed to the creation of unnatural tension in the city."

The Western powers termed the East German military display provocative and a 'flagrant violation of the quadrapartite status of the city," and said it "expressly contravenes the provisions of the Potsdam agreements and of subsequent four-power legislation in Berlin."

The agreements state that no German troops will be allowed in Berlin. These provisions continue to be in force in Berlin, the protests said, and "it is incumbent on the four powers to insure that they are observed."

The protests were similar to those sent in the past when East German troops paraded in East Berlin during May Day celebrations. These protests never were accepted by the Russians, who said the East Germans can do as they please since East Berlin is their capital.

It was the first time Soviet and East German forces had paraded together. It also was the biggest military display in the city since the end of World War II.

Reviewing the hour-long march were such Communist leaders as Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, Polish Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz, East German party leader Walter Ulbricht and deputy Red Chinese Premier Lu Ting-yi.

Also on hand were Soviet Marshals Vassily Chuikov and Vassily Sokolovsky, both wearing their bluish-green parade uniforms, their gold braid and rows of medals glittering in the brilliant sun.

Four Persons Are Killed In Tornadoes

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP) —Four persons were reported killed and dozens of farms demolished as tornadoes raked Nebraska late Saturday.

The dead were at the village of Primrose, 50 miles north of Grand Island.

The fire department at nearby Albion, source of the fatality reports, said the four victims had not been identified. It said the town of 100 to 200 persons had been leveled.

In Lincoln, Gov. Frank Morrison ordered the National Guard to the scene. He said the state patrol had set up its headquarters in a school, the only building left standing in town.

Elsewhere, a thunderous wind tore into farm buildings from the northern edge of Nebraska to its southern edge. Residents took refuge in tornado cellars and caves following a Weather Bureau alert of possible twisters.

The barrage of tornadoes struck in three separate areas. The first was just above the Kansas line near Hebron. These apparently moved to the Lincoln there.

Another series swept northern Nebraska in the Ainsworth area.

The most potent series hit dozens of farms in central Nebraska north of Grand Island.

Reports of tornado touchdowns also came from Wisconsin, where twisters damaged parked airplanes at Waukesha County Airport. Tornadoes were sighted in Milwaukee but no damage was reported.

The Weather Bureau also warned that severe thunderstorms were due from northern Texas into Nebraska.

Library Bill Will Be Given Hearing

A House Bill on libraries will be given a hearing before a House of Representatives Committee at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Representative Joe F. Rains has been informed. The bill is known as House Bill 582.

The bill is one which is sponsored by Representative Carl H. Niewoehner (D) of Columbia, Boone County.

Injuries Are Fatal

WASHINGTON, Mo. (AP) — Homer G. Bockhurst, 69, of Washington, Mo., was injured fatally Saturday in a two-car collision on Missouri 100 near here.

Bockhurst's 74-year-old wife, Lina, and Donald Scheer, 19, of New Haven, Mo. Both were admitted to a Washington hospital.

Search For Brother Gets Man Captured

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, (AP) — Donald Dawson's jungle search for his Army pilot brother has landed him as a prisoner of the Viet Cong guerrillas deep in Communist territory and U.S. military officials say there is little they can do to rescue him without endangering his life.

Lt. Daniel L. Dawson, 27, went down in the jungles northeast of Saigon last November and no word had been received about him since. A few weeks later Donald Dawson, 25, a merchant marine officer, flew to South Viet Nam vowing to bring out his brother, dead or alive. But hope soon faded for finding him alive.

"Danny will have a decent military burial," he had written his wife in Costa Mesa, Calif. "I will see to that."

The younger Dawson searched the jungles around Bien Hoa, 12 miles northeast of Saigon, and his trail got hotter about three weeks ago when he received reports that the brother's body had been found deep in Red-held territory.

A Roman Catholic priest, identified only as Father Doan, agreed to help Dawson. He arranged for him to meet with the Viet Cong for a discussion on bringing Daniel's body out.

At that time, Dawson told The Associated Press:

"It sounds pretty dangerous and I don't know what to think. But I'm here to get Dan back and I'm not going to leave until I succeed."

The Viet Cong insisted that Dawson come alone and unarmed except for a Vietnamese interpreter. It was not easy finding a Vietnamese citizen willing to go but finally Collette Embarger, 21, a college student, agreed. The priest agreed to go along part of the way.

Search For Survivors Continues

MACKINAW CITY, Mich. (AP) — Search for survivors of the ill-fated freighter Cedarville continued on land, sea and air Saturday as the Coast Guard opened an inquiry into the sinking of the 588-foot vessel.

Divers probed the sunken hulk for bodies of the eight men listed as missing and feared drowned. Two were known dead and 25 were rescued.

Helicopters hovered overhead scouting the sea for possible life rafts, while land parties searched the rugged coastline. But there was little hope that any of the missing crewmen could have survived in the icy waters.

The Cedarville, an 8,575-ton limestone carrier, sank Friday within 25 minutes after colliding with the Norwegian freighter Topdalsfjord in the fog-shrouded Straits of Mackinac.

It went down in 60 to 80 feet of water in the south shipping channel about 2½ miles southeast of the Mackinac Bridge. The Topdalsjord, its bow stove in, limped into port at Sault Ste. Marie.

Survivors said the Norwegian merchant vessel did not answer the Cedarville's foghorn signal which was sounded just before the ships collided.

Ivan Trafelet, on watch on the Cedarville's deck at the time of the collision, said the other vessel was only about half a block away when it was first spotted.

At 9th District Coast Guard headquarters in Cleveland, an officer said that international shipping rules, U.S. inland shipping regulations and the special seamanship rules of the Great Lakes all require ships to sound their whistles at least once a minute in fog.

Andrew J. Walker Is Convicted Of Murder

PLATTE CITY, Mo. (AP) — A circuit court jury convicted Andrew Jackson Walker Saturday of first degree murder and assessed his punishment at life imprisonment with a possibility of parole.

Walker, 39-year-old Kansas City Negro who had been convicted seven times previously for lesser crimes, was tried on a charge of slaying Mrs. Marion Biscoe, 67, in a rural Platte County area April 29, 1964.

He also was accused of killing Mrs. Biscoe's mother, Mrs. Hattie Biscoe, 83, on the same day, but the trial covered only the one case.

County Business Census Shows An Increase Of 36%

Pettis County's 220 service establishments had total receipts of $7.4 million in 1963, an increase of 36 percent from 1958, according to a report of the 1963 census of business just released by the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce. The last previous census of business covered operations during 1958.

The service trades in the census of business included those providing: personal services to individuals; miscellaneous business services; auto repair and other auto services; and other repair services. Also included were motion picture production and distribution businesses; motion picture theatres; other amusement and recreation services; and hotels and motels.

The selected service trade establishments in the county employed 540 persons (exclusive of proprietors) and had a payroll for the year of $1.5 million. The state as a whole included 25,778 establishments with receipts of $966.8 million.

New Crosswalk Made At Whittier School

A new crosswalk is being established directly in front of Whittier School, effective Monday, according to Assistant Police Chief Charles Knapp.

The crosswalk will in about the middle of the block on 16th, and will be guarded by Safety Patrol Boys from the school.

Knapp has asked all motorists to be on the lookout and obey the signs designating the area as a pedestrian crosswalk.

Plan Under Study

Excise Taxes May Soon Be Repealed

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Administration officials disclosed Saturday that Congress may be asked to eliminate some $5 billion of excise sales taxes in a series of repeals and reductions over the next several years.

Plans under study would include the 10 per cent tax on both new automobiles and telephone service in the midyear legislation, but provide for only small annual cuts — perhaps one or two percentage points annually for the next five or 10 years.

This plan, some officials contend, would erase the need to make the auto excise repeal retroactive. The industry has asked a retroactivity clause, to prevent prospective purchasers from staging a buyers' strike while waiting for the cut to take effect.

The recommendations still are under study. Officials predict privately that all decisions will be made in the next week or so, so that President Johnson can send draft legislation to Congress within the month.

Several administration officials are making speeches in Hot Springs to the Business Council, an organization of top industrialists.

Administration planners are reported to be in full agreement that the thriving economy needs no massive stimulus from tax reduction now. And while they foresee no major bulge in defense spending, they are said to feel that military uncertainties in Viet Nam and elsewhere make it unwise to seek large immediate excise cuts.

Administration thinking at the moment calls for approximately this schedule of reductions, the official sources said:

—On July 1, cuts totaling $1.75 billion or thereabouts. These would include outright repeal of the retail "nuisance" levies on furs, leather goods, cosmetics, toiletries, jewelry and some other items, plus a small cut in auto and phone-service levies and repeal or reduction of some other excises such as those on electrical appliances, musical

GOVERNOR'S PICTURE TO BOTHWELL HOSPITAL — Pettis County Representative Joe F. Rains, Saturday, presented to Charles M. Edwards, administrator of the Bothwell Hospital, a large framed picture of Governor Warren E. Hearnes. Edwards told Representative Rains he was pleased to accept the picture of Missouri's Governor which would be placed in the lobby of the hospital. Rains said he has several pictures to be presented to various officials, and one is to be presented to Mayor L. L. Studer for the City Hall. (Democrat-Capital photo)

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Yesterday I told my daughter, who is 12 years old, that she must learn to iron her own blouses and skirts. Her reply was, "It is your duty as a mother to keep house and take care of your family. Part of housekeeping is the washing and ironing."

Maurine isn't a spoiled child. She has never been one to sass me. Her grades are very good and everyone remarks on how bright she is.

I did not answer her because I didn't know what to say. I would hate to have my family feel that I am not doing my duty. Is Maurine right? If she is wrong please explain where her reasoning breaks down — PERPLEXED MOTHER.

Dear Perplexed: It is a mother's duty to take care of her family. And part of "taking care" of children means teaching them to be self-sufficient and training them to take care of themselves.

A mother isn't doing her children a favor when she allows them to grow up with no household skills.

A girl who can't cook, iron, clean, and sew hems and buttons is severely handicapped. I feel sorry for a young man who selects such a girl for his wife. And I feel even sorrier for the girl because learning these skills AFTER marriage can be extremely difficult.

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing a few words for the lady who was unhappy because her husband Ben didn't compliment her on the chopped herring.

If she is smart she will just stop making chopped herring for a month and see what happens. If Ben doesn't ask for it she should forget the whole thing already because she will never be able to please him.

I had the same problem with sauerkraut and dumplings. I never got the dumplings yellow or hard enough to suit my Kurt. One time they were hard enough but not yellow enough. The next time they were yellow enough but not hard enough. I used to get so frustrated I'd go into the bathroom and bawl.

Finally, I decided I could never make dumplings to please him so I quit trying. Three weeks later Kurt begged me to try again so I did. Well, he praised me to the skies—said they were the best dumplings he ever ate. Maybe this will work for Ben's wife. I hope she tries it.—MARTHA.

Dear Martha: Thanks for the hint on how to test a man's interest in special dishes. I agree. And if after a month he doesn't request the dish, forget it already.

Dear Ann Landers: Our 10-year-old son is unusually sensitive. Ever since he started school he has said he wants to be a doctor but I'm beginning to wonder if he has the temperament and disposition.

Donald went fishing for the first time last week. He came home very depressed. When I asked what was wrong he said, "I hate to see a fish with a hook in his mouth. He must suffer a lot."

It seems to me I once read that fish do not feel pain because they are cold-blooded creatures. Will you please print something about this in your coulmn so I can show it to my son?—NO EXPERT ON FISH.

Dear No Expert on Fish (and that makes two of us): My fish and game authorities tell me that fish do not feel pain when hooked in the mouth because fish have primitive nervous systems and there are very few nerves in that area.

Only when the fish SWALLOWS a hook does he sutter, and then of course, he should be killed immediately.

Annual May Crowning Held, St. Patrick's

The annual May crowning was held at St. Patrick's Church May 2, following a procession and the living rosary by school children.

Eddy Dennis carried on a satin pillow, the crown of chrysanthemums, which was placed on the head of the statue of the Blessed Virgin by Dixie Kemp. Above the statue, was an arch of lilacs, spirea and other garden flowers.

A corsage of chrysanthemums carried on a satin pillow by Patricia Thomas, was placed at the feet of the statue by Mary Ellen Fischer.

The congregation, led by the school children, sang appropriate hymns, followed by a sermon by the pastor, the Rev. Charles A. Pfeiffer, and the benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Ad Agency Convicted For Fraud

NEW YORK (AP)—An advertising agency has been convicted of promoting a fraudulent claim that Regimen tablets caused a substantial loss of weight without dieting. It marked the first time an advertising agency has been convicted for promoting the product of a client.

A spokesman for the agency said the verdict by a federal jury of 11 men and 1 woman would be appealed.

The agency, Kastor Hilton, Chesley Clifford & Atherton, was found guilty Thursday night on 41 counts in what Asst. U.S. Atty. Martin R. Pollner called "a fraud so cunning and so effective as to gross between $12 million and $15 million in sales of this worthless product."

The Drug Research Corp., marketer of the tablets, and its president, John Andreadis, also were found guilty on 45 counts each.

The jury deliberated 12 hours before returning its verdict that ended the 12-week trial.

Judge John R. Bartels set June 25 for sentencing.

Kastor Hilton and Drug Research could receive fines of $1,000 on each count. Andreadis could receive anything from a suspended sentence to a theoretical penalty of 225 years in prison, plus a $225,000 fine.

APRIL PATROL BOY—Dale Wimer, seventh grade student at Washington School, was selected as Safety Patrol Boy of the Month for April. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Wimer, 2015 East Tenth. He was selected for the honor for "the fine job he has done this year as Captain of the school patrol," according to his school principal, John Vogel. Above, Wimer receives a certificate and pin from his school principal. The Safety Patrol Boy of Month program is sponsored by the Automobile Clubs of Missouri and The Sedalia Democrat.

SUMMER STUDENT — Miss Linda Ann Rich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rich, Raytown, former residents of Sedalit for 15 years, has enrolled as a freshman for the summer term at Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg. She attended kindergarten, old Broadway School and completed the ninth grade at Smith-Cotton High School. She entered Raytown South High School, when the family moved to Raytown. There she has been an honor student each year. She is in the pep squad and special drill team; is reporter for the school paper; in special glee club, girls' sextet and chorus. Her major is to be physical education, her minor, journalism.

Flight Engineer Says Horse's Death Was Must To Save Lives

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "I hated to do it, but it was either him or the nine of us on board."

This is how flight engineer George Ropcean explained Thursday the killing with a fire ax of a valuable New Zealand race horse aboard a cargo plane over the Pacific.

The horse, 6-year-old Vanderford, broke out of its stall Wednesday night on a Pacific Western Airlines plane flying 600 miles off California's coast.

Insurance Firms Sued

WICHITA (AP) — A multimillion dollar damage suit against 52 insurance companies has been filed by five men who claim a statement circulated some time ago caused destruction of their insurance business.

Defendants include some of the nation's largest life insurance companies with home offices in 20 states and Canada.

Plaintiffs listed in the action were Leslie Young of Missouri, John Phillips and Don Thralls, both of Arizona; Bert Wright of Colorado; and Forrest Rogers of Kansas. No home towns were available.

The suit says the plaintiffs were agents of Green Shield Life Insurance Co., now merged with an unnamed insurance firm.

A copy of the purported statement upon which the suit is based describes agents for Green Shield as having pushed a high premium life insurance policy, and having concentrated sales efforts on the life of children. It also alleged misrepresentation.

The suit alleges the statement was a malicious attempt to induce the public not to do business with plaintiffs. Plaintiffs were caused unnecessary expense and embarrassment in defending their right to do business, the suit says.

Each plaintiff asks treble damages. Young, Phillips, Wright and Rogers claim base damages of $350,000 each and Thralls $200,000.

A spokesman for Farmers and Bankers Life Isurance Co., the only Wichita based firm named, said the complaint had been referred to an attorney for study and opinion.

The exhibit statement bears the printed signature of the Wichita General Agents and Managers Association. Al Ewardt, incumbent president of the association, said that if such a statement was circulated, it was before he took office.

Two Bullet Holes, Big Bruise---Net Result of a Date

GALLUP, N.M. (AP) — Montry Kelly, 30, has two bullet holes in his forehead and a big bruise.

Kelly and Joe Walker, both of Phoenix, Ariz., were sitting in a Gallup restaurant Wednesday night with Ritu Miranda, 24.

Police said Miss Miranda was examining a 22-caliber pistol when it accidentally discharged.

The bullet struck Kelly in the center of the forehead and carromed off the skull through the forehead about one-half inch from where it entered.

Kelly said he wanted to forget the incident and go home, but police directed him to appear today when they bring Miss Miranda into court on a charge of negligent use of a deadly weapon.

New Public Service Chief Grew Up In Area Around Sedalia

William Robinson Clark, Columbia attorney, who was appointed chairman of Missouri Public Service Commission Friday by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, is from this area.

He was born in the Hickory Point area near Green Ridge, son of the late Lawrence Clark, and of Mrs. Norma Edith Clark, who resides with Chairman and Mrs. Clark in Columbia.

Clark attended the first three grades at Hickory Point Country School and the family then moved to Windsor. There, he attended grade and high school until his sophomore year. That year he entered Kemper Military Academy, Boonville, later attaining his law degree from the University of Missouri, Columbia.

Clark is namesake for his grandfather, the late Judge William R. Clark, a county judge, banker and prominent farmer in Knob Noster in the mid 1800's.

Chamber Meetings Stirring Interest Among Members

"I think the Chamber is doing a good job," Dick Esser of Esser's Packaged Liquor said at the weekly meeting of Chamber members held Wednesday morning, "but the man on the street don't believe it. The thing the Chamber needs most is a good public relations program."

Maybe that's the only consolation some people get out of life, said James T. Denny, Metropolitan Life Insurance consultant, just griping. Then he told of being at a meeting where one man griped about everything. "You'd think a fellow like that would say something good now and then even by accident. He has never made any kind of a record in his work and you can see why he hasn't."

Everybody, continued Denny, should have a chance to come to one of these meetings, the more people we involve, the more interest there will be.

These meetings, said Judge Berry Elliott, provide a chance to talk things over and be able to answer questions when you mingle with people.

It isn't the members of the Chamber who do the griping, said Esser, it is those who don't know anything about it at all who insist that the Chamber and the City Council are trying to hold the town back — you can't argue with them because they know better. I can't give any concrete suggestions, said Esser, but this is the right track in public relations.

This is the training course, what is the follow up? Will it go to others? asked Denny.

We are starting with the membership first, said Carl Yates, president of the Chamber. Many things have been discussed, and we may be able to solve a few problems.

Much of the work of the Chamber, such as bringing in industry, must, by necessity, be kept secret, Esser said. Industry has been lost by too much talking. "All I heard about when I first came to Sedalia was about the Chamber of Commerce losing the Lily Cup Co. Plant, and I'm still hearing it."

Yates explained that the Chamber receives letters all the time from the State Chamber concerning industry, they never know what industries, and all queries are answered. Large companies make their own surveys but they never let the town know about it.

Sam E. Boyle, executive manager of the Chamber, then told of Whiteman Air Force Base and what it has meant through the years to Sedalia, not only by the dollars spent here but by the fine people it has brought here who have made friends and plan to come here to retire.

He then told of Salina, Kans., losing its air base and not realizing what it meant until it was too late to do anything about it. "We spend a great deal of time at Whiteman," Boyle said, and urged members and others from Sedalia to go up there on Sunday which is Armed Forces Day. There were other towns that didn't have housing when air bases were ready to open but Sedalia Chamber members went to work on that early, too, and Sedalia was ready.

We need to keep two words in mind, said Yates, "Sell Sedalia."

Letting the businesses that have been here for years know that you appreciate them is just as important as the new businesses, said Denny, and then went on to say "The happy guy is the one who tells his wife every day that he loves her—he gets good service."

There are things we can do better, of course, said Boyle, but just put down the assets and the liabilities of the town and you will see we have a better town than most.

"Do you get comments of criticism or suggestions here at the chamber?" asked Sheriff Emmett Fairfax.

"No," said Boyle, "we get criticism, but it is always second hand. Nobody comes in and talks to us about it."

It would be good if people would offer suggestions to the Chamber, Sheriff Fairfax pointed out, that would be helpful.

The Chamber is the people of Sedalia, the business and industies pay for memberships but all of the people are the Chamber and when we criticize the Chamber, we get to the grass roots and the people themselves are doing everything they can to help.

There is a real fine Chamber board this year, said Yates.

It is a lack of communication, said Dr. J. W. Bryden. Wouldn't there be more response if the little people knew more about what is going on. The biggest problem is that the people don't know.

"Letters going out to membership about what is going on in the Chamber, I think would be a good thing," Mrs. Anne Brown of Brown Oil Co., said.

We have done that, said Yates, and most of them land in the waste basket unopened.

"I can't imagine anyone throwing letters in the waste basket unopened," said Mrs. Brown.

But it happens, said Yates. Even checks to some who had invested money for a building went out in Chamber envelopes, the checks were thrown away in some cases, and they had to issue more checks. Members invited to these meetings said they did not receive letters — when they really just didn't open the Chamber envelopes. When enough interest is created in the Chamber that people will want to open the letters we plan to start sending them again, said Yates.

This is a fine town, Dr. Bryden went on to say, and we decided to come here because people smiled and spoke, but after we opened up the town did not seem so friendly. Then you have to prove yourselves before you really get accepted. The Chamber gets off to a fine start and then it changes administrations and it all goes down the drain.

We feel these meetings are the starting point, said Yates.

These meetings are creating a great deal of interest, said Judge Elliott.

Bob Finley, CPA, then questioned the dues of the Chamber, stating that he was paying $30 and he thought some other businesses could afford to pay more. Was there a set amount.

One membership in the Chamber costs $30, Yates explained, but some firms have as high as four or five.

Some have up to 30 memberships, said Boyle.

Do we have someone lobbying at Jefferson City for things of interest to us? asked Finley.

The State Chamber has someone there, said Boyle.

What about the highways, is there any way to get the highway department to finish work on South Limit?

"When the Urban Plan came up the Highway Department's chief engineer knew of the problems that existed in Sedalia where the people are often skeptical of voting for things for fear they would not materialize. He promised that the Urban Plan would be completed according to schedule, and it was planned out that the other would be done first. Main Street is now being done, next is Ohio and then they will complete South Limit and then Highway 50," he said.

The meetings, which start at 9:45 and close promptly at 11 always seem to find those attending a little reluctant to leave. Everybody stays as long as the meetings last.

Dr. Yeager Is Speaker For Kiwanians

Why our system of government is better than communism was explained in a talk by Dr. Randolph O. Yeager, associate professor of history, Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, before the Sedalia Kiwanis club meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon. The speaker who is president of the Warrensburg Kiwanis club, was introduced by Program Chairman Abe Rosenthal.

Dr. Yeager discussed forms of government during periods of the development of nations and subsequent creation of poles of power resulting in military conflicts of world wide proportions. At the present there exist two poles of power, the United States and the Soviet Union. Referring to the Viet Nam situation he emphasized that America cannot afford to remain in stupid isolation while communism encroaches on areas around the globe.

The speaker approved the policy with respect to Viet Nam which is one of containment, or a rim policy, which must be maintained to prevent the communists' unrelenting probes of areas for penetration.

Dr. Yeager received applause seldom sustained so long following his remarks.

President Robert Gardner requested members to stand for a moment of silent prayer in memory of W. Frank Keyser, first president of the Sedalia club, whose death occurred Saturdoy. Gardner gave invocation.

Guests introduced were Kiwanians James Cortner and Ralph Steiner, Warrensburg; the Rev. J. R. Earson, Dearborn, Mo.; and Clifford Lungren, formerly a Kiwanian of Omaha, a guest of the Rev. George E. Sparling.

Singing was led by Joe Allen with Mrs. Lillian Maynard as accompanist. Birthday greetings were extended to James N. Harms.

Fullgrade and Mrs. Fullgrade, Department of Radiology, Division of Health.

Posture Poster Contest Winners Are Announced

The National Health Federation made its annual Correct Posture Poster awards at the Sedalia Public Library, Friday, May 7, at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. L. R. Mills, 312 East Fifth, gave a short talk on the importance of correct posture.

Assistant Chief of Police Chas. S. Knapp, 1813 West Fourth, made the following presentations: Grade 4, first, Judy Busker, Jefferson School; second, Connie Fisher, Jefferson School. Grade 5 and 6, first Mary Ellen Gross, Mark Twain; 1st alternate, Charlotte Curry, Mark Twain. These two then represented this area in the state finals: Second, Danny Henderson, Horace Mann School. Grade 7, first, Cindy Mallery, Mark Twain School; second, Paul Kirby, Mark Twain School.

Charlotte Curry's poster won her first place in the state finals with second place going to Lynn Weber of St. Gabriel The Arch Angel School in St. Louis, and third to Lou Beth Johnston, Madison School, Madison, Mo.

Sewerage Facilities Will Be Planned With Public Works Money

Sewerage facilities to abate a health problem at Syracuse (Mo.) will be planned with a $1,200 Public Works Planning advance, it was announced by the Community Facilities Administration, according to United States Senators Edward V. Long and Stuart Symington. The project will cost $63,300.

Syracuse does not have a municipal sewerage system at the present time and individual waste disposal units now serving the city are unsatisfactory, city authorities report. The proposed project will include sewage collection and treatment facilities.

This project is being assisted by the Program of Advances for Public Works Planning authorized under the Housing Act of 1954, as amended. This program provides interest-free advances for planning essential public works and community facilities. Advances are repayable upon the start of construction.

Construction of the program is scheduled to get underway in 1966.

Missouri Heart Fund Nears A Good Year

Another excellent year for the Missouri Heart Association is indicated by 1965 Heart Fund Campaign reports. Forty-four counties have exceeded their 1965 Heart Fund totals. Included in those 44 counties are two from the area:

Cedar, with $824, and Henry, with $1,695.29:

Other area county totals to date are: Pettis, $3,850; Benton, $500; Cooper, $3,000; Howard, $1,226.44; Miller, $1,176.79; Moniteau, $1,456.18; Morgan, $706.56; Saline, $1,916.

ASCS Program Has Many Participants

More farmers in Pettis County participated in the 1964 Agricultural Conservation Program than in any other ASCS activity, it was reported today by Samuel Hieronymous, Chairman of the ASC County Committee.

A total of 927 cooperated in this important program, usually referred to by its initials—ACP.

Funds for the cost-share program are provided in recognition of the fact that soil, water, and related natural resources "are vital to the health and well being of our citizens, both now and in the future," the Chairman pointed out.

Excellent Reception

MOSCOW (AP) — Tass, the Soviet news agency, reports excellent reception on the first telephone calls relayed by satellite between Moscow and Vladivostok, on the Pacific coast. The satellite used is Molniya Lightning 1.

Slum Area Develops In Germany

FULDA, Germany (AP) — Prosperous West Germany has a big depressed area along its Iron Curtain border.

Workers have been leaving the 38 counties adjoining Communist East Germany and Czechoslovakia for better job opportunies elsewhere. Population has decreased 4.6 per cent in a decade while increasing 11 per cent in West Germany as a whole. Business, as measured by tax-paying capacity, lags 23 per cent behind the national average.

"People feel safer in the western part of the country than they do living a few kilometers from communism," said the Fulda county commissioner, Edward Stieler.

"Industry avoids being on the edge of the economy, far from markets," another Fulda official explained.

World War II left Germany divided along an 856-mile frontier, now bristling with barbed wire and watch towers put up by the Communists to prevent flight to the West. The division separates families and cuts villages in two.

The East German regime of Walter Ulbricht sharply restricts direct contact over the border and shoots down refugees trying to cross the mined death strip that runs through the countryside.

In West Germany the federal government and states are putting in $50 million yearly to help the economy of the border region, which is reckoned to extend 25 miles and makes up one-fifth of the country's land surface. The money provides for reduction in freight rates, speedy writeoffs of investments, cheap credit, road improvements, and gifts to industries to encourage them to build plants there.

"It's only a drop in the bucket," complained the Bad Hersfeld county commissioner, Edwin Zerbe. "The government talks a lot about doing something for the border area but comes through with precious little. We've got a right to help so we can keep up with the rest of the country."

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, hard-pressed to keep the budget balanced in an election year, maintains that the federal government is doing all it can.

"We need help similar to West Berlin's," said Fulda's Stieler. West Berlin gets $250 a year per capita — 10 times the rate in the border region.

Authorities feel that prolonged lack of contact along the border, down what was once the heart of the old Fatherland, will seriously hurt chances for reunifying Germany.

"There is real danger that in 20 years nobody will care about reunification," Zerbe said. "The younger people don't know one another. They are getting used to two different, incompatible systems. It looks bad."

About Town

Among the many things Franke Witte, who reached his 100th birthday this past week, received, was a huge bouquet of flowers from his nephew, Arthur Witte, and his family, from Chehalis, Wash. This nephew has always felt he owed something special to his uncle, for it was the elder Witte who sponsored him years ago, when he wanted to come to the United States from his home in Germany. This country is now his country, because he long ago became a naturalized citizen.

Lights-Off Policy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Undersecretary David Vaughan has adopted a Johnsonian lights-off policy. He ordered 3,500 employes in the 38-story U.N. secretariat building to turn 'em off at quitting time because "utmost economy" is necessary.

● In Other Hospitals

Mrs. John Mallett, Missouri State Fair Grounds, has entered the Davis County Hospital, Bloomfield, Iowa, for observation and treatment.

● Police Reports

A truck abandoned at the Dial Brothers Apco Station on East Broadway some 30 days ago was discovered to be a stolen vehicle Friday. The Dial brothers told officers that the truck was there when they took over the station. Police contacted the former owner of the station and it was reported that the driver of the truck had asked permission to park it there several days and had never returned to claim it.

The Missouri Highway Patrol notified the truck's owner, E. H. Kelton, Hartsville, Mo., and he will come to Sedalia to claim the vehicle.

Carl Walters, 525 North Grand, reported the theft of his son's red bicycle to police Saturday.

Mark Shelby, 1004 West Third, reported the loss or theft of his Missouri license plate PG7-159 to police Saturday. The plate had been missing for the last two or three days.

A juvenile - aged boy was brought to the police station Saturday night following a shoplifting incident at the Katz Drug Company in Thompson Hills Shopping Center. He reportedly tried to take two Model A car kits valued at $2.58.

● Fires In City

Sedalia firemen responded to an alarm at 7:55 p.m. Saturday to 1112 West Second where wires were burning. The Missouri Public Service was notified.

Two Persons Die In Car-Truck Collision

CARROLLTON, Mo. (AP) — The Highway Patrol reported that two persons were killed and two injured in a car-truck collision a mile east of here Saturday.

The patrol identified the dead as Charles Arthur King of Miami, Mo., driver of the car, and Loretta King, presumably his wife. The patrol reported it had not established the relationship of the two.

A third occupant of the car, identified as King's daughter, Cheryl, 18, was critically injured and taken to a hospital here.

● Accidents

Five persons, all occupying the same car, were brought to Bothwell Hospital for treatment following a three-vehicle accident that occurred at 2:20 p.m. Saturday two miles west of Sedalia on Highway 50. Ambulances from Gillespies and Ewings brought the injured to the hospital.

J. W. Curry, 32, the driver of a 1954 Chevrolet, received a fractured right arm and bruised left leg; his wife, Wilma, 32, suffered a severe forehead laceration and complained of injuries to her right foot and leg; Granville Howard, 65, suffered a severe scalp laceration; Virginia Martin, 36, had a bruised left leg and right knee. All were from Houstonia and were not admitted to the hospital.

Dr. A. J. Campbell and Dr. D. O. Eldenburg treated the injured.

Reports indicated that a 1958 Chevrolet station wagon, driven by Capt. Paul Edward Brandt, 32, Whiteman AFB, stalled on the road. Capt. Brandt then, according to reports, turned on his signal light and started to pull to the right side of the road when a 1965 Chevrolet pick-up, driven by Ben Albert Holden, 38, 404 East Boonville, collided with his car, knocking it about 100 feet into a field. A 1954 Chevrolet containing the injured persons then collided with the pick-up. All three vehicles were headed east.

Bacons and Parks wreckers removed the vehicles from the accident scene.

Trooper Pete Stohr investigated the accident.

One car was damaged in an accident on the Thompson Hills parking lot at 12:58 p.m. Friday.

Involved, police reported, were a 1965 Chevrolet, driven south on the parking lot by John M. Shultz, Jr., 27, 513 West Fifth, and a 1952 Plymouth, driven west on the parking lot by Pearl Edna Speiser, 64, 1000 West 16th.

Damage was to the left side of the Shultz car.

Ben Douglas, 13, LaMonte, was admitted to Bothwell Hospital suffering from first, second and third degree burns on both legs from the knees to the ankles following an accident in which a can of kerosene exploded near LaMonte Saturday afternoon. Dr. R. A. Enochs treated him.

According to reports Douglas was working for Zeb Thomas and they had been burning brush. Apparently they had sprayed some brush with kerosene and were having trouble igniting it. When the brush did catch fire the can exploded on his legs.

Douglas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Douglas.

Edwin O'Neill, 54, Route 2, was injured Saturday about 2 p.m. when the roof of a shed in which he was working collapsed on him. He sustained a laceration on the head and a laceration on the left arm.

O'Neill related that the shed had been damaged by a wind storm last year and he was in the process of remodeling it when the accident occurred. A man tentatively identified as Bill Davis of Warsaw was on the roof at the time of the accident but reportedly was uninjured.

Police investigated an accident that occurred on the Safeway parking lot at 2:55 p.m. Saturday.

Reports indicated that a 1954 Ford, parked on the lot by Billy Ray Akerman, 310 West Tenth, was reportedly struck by a 1952 Buick, driven by Allen Thomas, 75, 311 East Cooper. Thomas told Sgt. J. L. Riley, who investigated the accident, that he had been at Safeway, but did not remember hitting any cars. Akerman obtained a license number which was issued to Thomas.

The left side of the Ford was damaged.

A 1965 Holiday Rambler house trailer was damaged when it struck a utility pole at Gills Standard Station at Broadway and Center at 6:30 p. m.

The trailer being pulled by a car driven by Lula Parker, 61, Parsons, Kan. Reports indicated that she tried to cut a corner too close.

About ten feet of the side paneling of the trailer was damaged.

Mrs. Alberta Agnes Haynes, 59, Kansas City, received a severe laceration of the upper left arm and multiple bruises, abrasions and contusions in a one-vehicle accident one and one-half mile west of Highway 65 on Highway 52, Saturday night.

Mrs. Haynes was treated at Bothwell Hospital. She was a passenger in a 1965 Dodge pickup driven west on Highway 52 by her husband, Dr. S. E. Haynes. According to reports, the Dodge left the highway and overturned.

Further details were not available before press-time.

● Magistrate Court

William Richard Stelljes, Route 1, expired vehicle license, pleaded guilty and was fined $5 plus court costs.

Two Men Arrested In St. Louis On Auto Theft Charges Sat.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The FBI arrested two St. Louis area men Saturday on indictments charging them with auto theft in conhave stolen 1,000 cars in the St. Louis are in two years.

The indictments had been returned by a federal grand jury in Springfield, Ill., against James L. Brown, 30, of suburban Aellston, and Arthur H. Strawbridge, 32, of St. Louis.

Officials said most of the stolen cars were transported to northern Illinois for sale. Indications were thay many of their serial numbers were altered in Carbondale in southern Illinois.

Illinois state police recovered in the Peoria area last month 34 late model cars that had been stolen from the St. Louis area. As many as 40 persons are believed involved in the theft ring.

instruments, phonographs, radio and television sets.

—On next Jan. 1 or perhaps July 1, 1966, further cuts on the latter group of commodities to a total of around $700 million to $800 million.

—Starting July 1 and followed by yearly reductions for several years, a gradual elimination of the federal manufacturers' excise on new cars and on telegraph and telephone service, with the savings passed on to consumers.

—No other major tax reductions until 1967 at the earliest. This apparently rules out proposals for another general income tax cut next year.

It was made clear, however, that the long-range planning calls for the elimination of all federal excises, producing more than $5 billion in revenues annually, except the taxes on alcoholic beverages and tobacco products and the highway-user levies on gasoline and other automotive items.

Missouri Residents Welcome To Visit

Whiteman Air Force Base will open its gates to the public Sunday, May 9, for an Armed Forces Day Open House to give the residents of the State of Missouri a chance to get a first hand look at some of the hardware the Air Force has.

Beginning at 12 noon the gates will be open to the public. Located on the base flight line in front of Base Operations, on the east side of the base will be a display of aircraft including the Strategic Air Command's B-52 Heavy Bomber and the KC-135 Jet Stratotanker.

Other aircraft to be displayed include two of the century series of fighters, the F-102 and the F-106; a huge C-124, 130 and 123 cargo aircraft, plus Whiteman's T-29 and E-3A aircraft and Aero Club aircraft. The UH-19B helicopter, which were recently used in flood relief work in Illinois and Iowa, will also be on display.

According to the Armed Forces Day project officer, Maj. Richard O. Smith, other equipment and demonstrations which will be on display for the public will be a full scale model of the Minuteman Intercontinental Ballistic Missile and various missile maintenance support equipment.

A Junior Judo exhibition will be given at Building T-40 at 2 p.m. for the public.

The Central Missouri State College Band from Warrensburg will present two concerts, at 2 and 4 p.m.

Tours of the base will also be conducted on special buses.

A "Massing of the Colors" ceremony will be held in front of the Base Chapel at 4 p.m.

The May 9 event will climax the annual celebration of Armed Forces Week, with its continuing theme of "Power for Peace" May 8, through 16, in this area, and will show Missouri residents facilities and equipment used by the Air Force and other services.

Since their inception in 1949, Armed Forces Day observances have provided the public a look at the strength and scope of the United States military services in their vital defense role.

State 4-H Club Week

The deadline date for State 4-H Club Week applications is this Tuesday, May 11, 5 p.m. Those making application should be 14 years of age. The event will be held at the University of Missouri College Campus at Columbia, June 7-11. Nearly 1,000 delegates will attend.

Three workshops will provide information on "Planning for College or Technical School", "New On The Job," and "The Job", and "The Career Exploration 4-H Project". Also, one of the featured speakers will be Dr. Ethel Alpenfels of New York University.

4-H Horseman Short Course

A 4-H Horseman Short Course will be held at the University of Missouri May 22 and 23. All 4-H Horsemanship leaders are invited to attend.

Some of the highlights of the short course are as follows: Diseases and Parasites of the Horse, Lameness, Care of Feet, Shoeing, Training of the Western Horse, Judging Clinic, Feeding Horses, Care and use of 4-H Equipment, Riding and Driving Shetland Ponies, Stable Management, Planning a Trail Ride, and Organization and Management of a 4-H Horse Show.

Admission Deadline (August 1)

The following information is from a letter by C. W. McLane, Director of Admissions and Registrar, which will be an important announcement to any prospective students in this area.

"In accordance with action approved last year by a University Systems committee, applicants for admission as new students to the fall semester must submit proper credentials to the Office of Admissions prior to August 1. It is possible, however, that there may be valid reasons for making exceptions to this deadline, especially for graduate students. We hope that these exceptions may be kept to a minimum."

4-H Tractor Leaders

Closer study of second, third, and fourth tractor literature suggests that we pass on to you leaders a new suggestion for improving the tractor project. The recommendation is this: Tractor leaders should cover Unit 8 in Second, Third, and Fourth Year Tractor Literature before covering other units. This will allow more months for record-keeping and will enhance the value of the project. This recommendation is made even though the literature says that only one month's records are required.

Livestock Loss Prevention

Missouri accepted the National Livestock Loss Prevention Demonstration Program again for 1965. In order to name the Missouri demonstrator for the National Event, which is held in Chicago during the International Livestock Show, the top placing blue ribbon demonstration qualifying at each District 4-H Achievement Day will be eligible to participate in a special ble to participate in a special Livestock Loss Prevention Demonstration event at State 4-H Achievement Day on Sept. 11.

The demonstration must deal with practices in beef, sheep, or swine production and or marketing that will reduce livestock losses or result in greater efficiency and more profit to the producer. The demonstrator must have passed his 14th birthday before Jan. 1, 1965.

A copy of a brochure "Let's Give A Livestock Conservation Demonstration" may be obtained for the office.

S-C Tigers Clinch Second Straight Conference Title

Jeff City Jays Ousted By Locals

By Ronnie Cowan

The Smith - Cotton Tigers clinched their second straight Central Missouri Conference championship Friday night by sweeping a double-header from the Jefferson City Jays, 3-0 and 3-2.

Mike Vansell turned in an excellent one-hit performance in securing at least a tie for the league title by setting the Jays down in order in nearly every inning in the first game. The only base hit Vansell gave up was a hot smash between shortstop and third base which shortstop John Johnson got a glove on but couldn't play in time.

Jim Thomas also went the distance in the nightcap which saw the Bengals garner all their runs in the first inning. The Jays used the bottom of the fifth to chalk up both their runs.

In the opening game, the Tigers also took advantage of being first at bat by scoring two of their three runs. The final run crossed the plate in the fifth.

Tigers third-baseman Tom Lemons led the Tigers offensively with five hits out of seven times at the plate.

The Jays threatened to score in the bottom of the seventh in the second contest by putting a runner on first and calling for a bunt. The bunt was missed, however, and catcher Steve Young threw out the runner at second base.

Next action for the Tigers will be in Concordia next Tuesday where the locals will tangle with the Orioles of Public High School.

The next home workout for Smith-Cotton will be an important one. The Lebanon team, winners over Waynesville for their sub-district championship, will travel to Sedalia to battle for the sectional championship. The game begins at 3 p. m. Wednesday at Liberty Park.

Earl Buchholz

Buchholz Playing On

Turning Pro Helped Game, St. Louis Star Maintains

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Earl Buchholz came out of St. Louis a few years ago labeled the best American tennis player since Jack Kramer.

So everywhere he traveled, the treatment was the same — best restaurants, plush hotels, dates with deeply tanned Newport debutantes and advice from the fatherly amateur officials.

Then, at age 20, Earl Buchholz pulled a shocker. He turned pro. In the closed world of amateur tennis this was like Benedict Arnold paying a return visit to West Point.

"I was just being honest with myself," Buchholz said. "I wanted to be the best tennis player in the world, and I wanted to find out if I had the talent. If I found I didn't, I would have quit. The only place to accomplish this was among the professionals.

"Besides, amateur tennis spoils you. I didn't want that. They give you everything when you're an amateur. I had seen too many amateurs who couldn't adjust themselves to everyday life when their careers had ended because they were too used to having everything done for them.

"The pros aren't like that. Here you're playing for your living against guys you travel with and live with every day. But they won't tell you what you're doing wrong or help you correct a mistake. People don't realize how competitive this game is. Why I remember losing two points in 1963 that cost me $7,000.

"Naturally, it was discouraging at the beginning. It seemed as though I was getting beat every night. I was very nervous. I didn't know what to call guys like Pancho Gonzales and Pancho Segura. I wanted to call them 'sir.' Just a few years before I had been a ball boy for them.

"It's like everything else, though, it just takes time to adapt. The pro game is a lot faster than the amateurs, and the players hit much harder. They move a lot better, too.

"But I'm doing all right now. I made about $25,000 last year out of the tour and my game is getting stronger. I still have No. 1 as my goal.

"About the only discouraging thing now is the way the pros are treated. I think there is a place in tennis for us.

"But there is too much bickering. The administrators always are quick to point out they are volunteers doing it for the love of the game. Well, if they love the game why can't Pancho Gonzales, Lew Hoad, Ken Rosewall and Rod Laver play at Wimbledon and Forest Hills?

"Having the pros has to help the game, not hurt it. After all, they are the best talents.

"I've never missed the publicity I might have gotten as an amateur, but I do mind being thought of as a 24-year-old 'has-been' simply because pro tennis doesn't get the exposure the amateurs do.

"The fact that I turned professional so early has made me a much better player than I would have been as an amateur."

To classify Earl Buchholz as one of those angry young men would be wrong. The handsome, black - haired six-footer is just an honest young man.

Buchholz is the nephew of James Clifford, 1624 East Fourth, Sedalia. The famed tennis player's mother, Helen, is Clifford's sister. The Buchholz family resides in St. Louis.

Way Back When . . .

LOS ANGELES WAS chosen as the site for the United States Olympic track and field trials, it was announced on May 9, 1940, despite an earlier cancellation due to World War II. The trials would run from July 10-13, according to K. L. "Tug" Wilson, athletic director.

Wilson said the same medals as those awarded at Olympic events would be distributed at the trials in July.

THE SEDALIA JUNIOR Legion team was set to open its 1940 season within three days, with a squad from Cole Camp traveling to Sedalia for the opener.

IT'S BASEBALL TIME again this year, of course, and locally such leagues as Babe Ruth, Connie Mack and others are getting ready for the 1965 season. Everybody knows about Babe Ruth, but it's interesting to wonder just how many people remember one Cornelius McGillicuddy.

Cornelius moved into the majors spotlight when he took over as manager of the Pittsburgh squad in 1894. He remained an active manager for 55 years after that. He won nine pennants with the Philadelphia Athletics, and his team took five world championships.

His fame grew from year to year. Cornelius, actually, is best remembered as being always dressed in a hard collar, straw hat and business suit. He never left the bench as a manager.

Any clue who it really is yet? Even in his own time, Cornelius McGillicuddy was known to very few people by his real name. Early in his life his neighbors dubbed him "Connie Mack." Remember him now?

Facts concerning Connie Mack were obtained from "Baseball's Hall of Fame," a book published this year.

Rosters For BR League Now Ready

The rosters for the 1965 Babe Ruth baseball season have been announced, with 118 youngsters scheduled to see action on eight teams. There are additional youngsters not listed on the rosters, but who will be placed in the "player pool."

According to player agent Al Hall, this means that a youngster can be called on any time during this season for action, even though no permanent team berth is available for them now.

Hall urged youngsters who have not had a physical examination yet to get one immediately and turn their notices in to managers. All boys are asked to turn in their cards, and every player is required to have his birth certificate.

Sports Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

THERE'S satisfaction in winning the Central Missouri Conference baseball title, but there will be greater satisfaction for the Smith-Cotton Tigers if they can sail past Lebanon High School next Wednesday in the Missouri State High School Activities Association state tournament now in progress. The Tigers have already advanced to the sectional play-offs to meet Lebanon, and a win here Wednesday would move them into the regional play-offs to be held in Springfield, and then on to the semi-finals of the tournament at Busch Stadium in St. Louis.

There is a lot of wishful thinking by the boys at this time, but if they continue as they have in the past few games, there is better than an even chance of moving on.

The double victory over the Jefferson City Jays Friday gave the Tigers a 5-1 season record in the Central Missouri Conference against Hickman at Columbia, the Jays and the Mexico Bulldogs. The conference plays only four baseball teams.

Congratulations, boys, on winning the conference title for Smith - Cotton, and we are keeping our fingers crossed and hoping you will be able to set down Lebanon. Lebanon, we are told, has an exceptionally good record for the season, but their exact wins and losses were not available.

Certainly Coach Earl Finley is be be commended on his handling of the team this year, and the boys for responding to the coaching staff instructions. Holding a season standing of 16 wins, 5 losses, for a .762 percentage, the Tigers have been taking advantage of every break.

In the state tournament they have advanced by defeating Leeton in the first round sub-district play-offs 25-0, then Calhoun 13-0 and Montrose 14-0 to go to the district to meet Truman High School of Kansas City, which team bowed in a tough one, 3-1.

The Tigers, showing their alertness, took advantage of every break in this game in which they were out-hit 5-1. The Truman Patriot errors in the third actually resulted in the victory for the Tigers, who collected two runs. The only run was in the fourth and came off of an error and a good solid hit by Randy France, who scored Butch Rozier, who had reached second on a right fielder's error.

The warm weather hasn't hurt the Tigers a bit, and their pitching has been holding up well. Certainly the teammates are taking advantage of every break in the times at bat, doing everything possible to collect runs against their opponents, necessary for their pitchers to win a ball game.

Game time will be 3 p.m. We hope it's a nice, warm sun-shiny day for the Tigermen.

—o—

TODAY at the Whiteman Air Force Base Open House, there will be a new display to be seen — a display of Soap Box racing cars which will be entered in the annual Derby Races to be held in Warrensburg under the sponsorship of the Optimist Club there. The Derby racing date has been changed, due to activities which have hampered some of the entrants. The date has been moved to July 10, according to information passed to us.

There is still ample time for these little racing drivers to get their names on the dotted line and enter their cars. Due to the nearly month delay, this should give these young drivers ample time to get their "wooden" steeds ready to ramble down the racing course.

There will be another Sedalian in the event for sure, Jimmy Hicks, brother of the 1964 champion, John Hicks, who represented the area at Akron, Ohio.

The winner of the Warrensburg race will not only receive a beautiful trophy and an all-expense trip to Akron, but he will also receive a $500 savings bond for his education.

Veterans of previous races, providing they are 11 to 15 years old, are eligible and should either get busy in remodeling their cars, and "pitch in" and build a faster one. It's fun for the kids and more fun for the parents.

Winners of local Soap Box Derby races and top finishers in the finals at Akron will receive approximately $150,000 in savings bonds and college scholarships. Some 250 youngsters across the land are expected to share the prizes posted by Chevrolet, national sponsor of the Derby.

Smith-Cotton Jr. Varsity Is Defeated Twice

Smith-Cotton's junior varsity lost a doubleheader to William Chrisman of Independence Saturday, going down 1-0 in the first game and 4-0 in the second.

Windhausen hurled the first shut-out against the Sedalians, for which Kraxberger was named the loser, while the second game winner was Wagner while Morris absorbed the loss.

The Bengals see action again this Monday, going against Corder at Liberty Park. Game time is 1 p.m.

Bowlers Hold Annual Banquet Fri.

Trophies for high ten, high 30 and winning team were awarded Friday at an annual banquet for members of the Senior Citizens Bowling League, with presentations made by Don Anderson of Hillcrest Lanes.

Among the ladies of the league, Myrtle Fountain received an award for being the most improved woman bowler; Frank McAllister got the same award for the men, while other awards were presented as follows:

Class A, Russell Campbell, Bessie Thomas; Class B, Walter Rissler, Myrtle Petty; Class C, Jewell Carson; Class D, Myrtle Fountain.

Final standings, with won- lost record, of the six teams in the league: Team No. 2, 87-53; Team No. 5, 84-56; Team No. 6, 79-61; Team No. 4, 68-72; Team No. 3, 51-89; and Team No. 1, 51-89.

Besides the presentation of trophies and awards, the league elected officers for the 1965-66 season. They are: Walter Rissler, president; Bessie Stevenson, vice-president; Harry Carson, secretary-treasurer; Emil Boss, men's league representative, Jewell Carson, women's league representative.

The league has a standing requirement that the youngest member not be under 50 years of age.

72 Players Drafted

Sedalia Little League Rosters Are Announced

The Little League Major managers met Thursday evening for the Majors player draft. The Major managers drafted 72 boys from those attending the spring tryouts. Little Leaguers not being drafted to the majors have been assigned to the various minor teams.

First year Little Leaguers have been assigned to "C" minor team, and "A" and "B" minor leaguers have been grouped on one roster and will be divided this week by their managers.

Baseball diamonds in Sedalia will be fully occupied starting this week as Little League managers check out equipment and begin practice for the coming season, which officially opens on June 7. However, a special game is scheduled to be played the afternoon of June 6. Governor Warren E. Hearnes has been invited to throw out the first ball of the season.

Submachine-Gunners Blast At US Embassy

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Submachine-gunners in automobiles sprayed the U.S. Embassy cultural center and the U.S. Army Geodetic Survey garage here Saturday, apparently to demonstrate displeasure with U.S. actions in the Dominican Republic.

Thirty-eight slugs ripped through the steel floor of the mapmaking mission's maintenance garage, three of them narrowly missing a Venezuelan guard inside. An hour later, a burst of seven slugs pierced windows at the cultural center library and lodged in the ceiling.

Reaffirm Positions

ATHENS, Greece, (AP) — Greece and Cyprus Saturday reaffirmed tha' self-determination for Cyprus should be sought within the framework of the United Nations charter.

A joint communique issued after three days of official conferences between Premier George Papandreou and visiting Cyprus President Makarios said the two governments would "endeavor to secure peaceful and normal conditions on the island."

"A firm line of the two governments continues to be self-determination in accordance with the U.N. charter," it said.

Treated For Flu

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Fifteen students from two men's dormitories at Kansas State University were in a hospital Saturday for treatment of what was described as intestinal flu.

Dr. Hilbert P. Jubelt, director of student health, said the students had infectious intestinal upsets and that, including those hospitalized, 20 to 25 cases had been treated in the past 24 hours.

Students At School

TORONTO, (AP)— More than 300 U.S. and Canadian students are spending their weekend in meetings at the University of Toronto with the avowed aim of relating civil rights movements to Canadian Indians.

Most delegates are affiliated with the Canadian Friends of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee who took part in eight-day demonstrations out March.

Television Appeals

MILAN, Italy (AP) — The father and mother-in-law of Luciano Lutring, Italy's most wanted map, have gone on the state-run television network with appeals for him to surrender. He is accused of a series of robberies in north Italy and France.

Yankees 7, Senators 3

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joe Pepitone's first home run of the season highlighted a five-run first inning as the New York Yankees routed the Washington Senators 7-3 Saturday.

The Yankees routed Pete Richert in the first inning on four hits and a walk and completed their scoring on Clete Boyer's two-run homer in the seventh.

Jim Bouton, 3-2, had a two-hitter until the ninth inning.

Phil Linz walked in the first and was forced by Bobby Richardson. Tony Kubek singled before Pepitone lined a homer to left center. Hector Lopez singled and scored on Boyer's double, and Boyer scored on Doc Edwards' single off Buster Narum.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Al Kaline socked a leadoff homer in the 15th inning, boosting Detroit to a 4-3 victory over Baltimore Saturday.

Kaline smashed Dick Hall's first pitch into the left field bleachers for his fourth homer of the season.

A home run by Baltimore's Bob Johnson off Tiger starter Hank Aguirre in the fifth tied the game 3-3.

Aguirre singled across two runs in a three-run rally in the second inning.

Baltimore came back for two runs in its half of the inning. One run scored on singles by Brooks Robinson, John Orsino and Jack Brandt with Dick McAualiffe's error tagged on to the infield hit by Brandt. Boog Powell's sacrifice fly sent home the second run.

Oriole second baseman Jerry Adair muffed Bill Freehan's grounder in the eighth inning, ending his major league record streak of errorless games at 89 and errorless chances at 454.

Red Sox 15, Indians 8

BOSTON (AP) — Boston turned a pair of Max Alvis miscues into a six-run second inning, got a three-run homer from Tony Conigliaro and defeated error-plagued Cleveland 15-8 Saturday.

Breaking a four-game losing streak, Boston sent 12 men to bat in the big inning when it jumped to a 6-1 lead on two-run doubles by Bill Monbouquette and Felix Mantilla, an Ed Bressoud run-producing double, four walks and Alvis' errors. Four of the runs were unearned.

In all, the Indians committed six errors which the Sox converted into six scores.

Conigliaro homered in the fifth following a walk and Mantilla's single.

Alvis cracked a homer in Cleveland's second, and Vic Davalillo belted a three-run double in the third. Fred Whitfield started a four-run eighth inning with a homer, and Leon Wagner climaxed it with a two-run single.

Twins 4, White Sox 1

ST. PAUL — MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Zoilo Versalles lined a sacrifice fly to deep left center for the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning as Minnesota defeated Chicago 4-1 Saturday behind Jim Grant's tight pitching.

Jimmie Hall padded the Twins' margin with a two-run homer 420 feet into the right field bullpen after Harmon Killebrew singled in the eighth. It was Hall's fifth homer of the season.

Versalles' drive to center fielder Ken Berry at the 390-foot fence sent Jerry Kindall across with the winning tally. Kindall led off with a double to left center, and Grant sacrificed him to third.

Hoyt Wilhelm had just replaced White Sox starter Gary Peters when Versalles poked his long shot. Hall's belt also came off Wilhelm.

Grant, hurling his third straight complete game for a 3-0 record, scattered seven hits, walked only one and struck out six.

A two-out walk to Danny Cater on a full count led to the White Sox' only run. Don Buford singled, sending Cater to third, and Floyd Robinson then delivered a run-scoring single to center.

Minnesota tied in its half on singles by Versalles and Rich Rollins plus Tony Oliva's sacrifice fly.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Don Drysdale pitched a three-hitter and rapped two hits himself as the Los Angeles Dodgers whipped San Francisco 9-0 for their fifth straight victory Saturday.

Drysdale tripled and scored on Maury Wills' bunt single in the fourth inning and started a two-run seventh inning with a single.

San Francisco's Willie Mays crashed into the center field fence trying for an over-the-shoulder catch of Drysdale's drive in the fourth and was stunned momentarily.

Mays left the game after the sixth inning but was reported to be only shaken up.

The center fielder had his home run streak stopped at four consecutive games. He had hit five in that time.

Wills collected three singles in all, stole two bases for a total of 16, scored three runs and drove in one.

Mets 4, Braves 2

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie slugger Ron Swoboda drove in all the New York runs with a pair of home runs Saturday in powering the Mets to a 4-2 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

The Mets got only four hits against three Milwaukee pitchers, but two of them were Swoboda's sixth and seventh homers of the season. The 20-year-old outfielder hit a 400-foot-plus shot off loser Denny Lemaster with two out in the first inning after two walks, and connected again in the sixth against Phil Niekro.

Lemaster held a 6-0 record against the Mets prior to the loss.

Winner Jack Fisher was threatened often but blanked the Braves until the eighth, when Eddie Mathews homered with one on. After Joe Torre followed with a single for Milwaukee's ninth hit, Tom Parsons relieved Fisher.

Singles by Mike de la Hoz and Mack Jones with none out in the ninth chased Parsons, but Dennis Ribant stranded both runners with clutch relief pitching.

Astros 11, Cubs 6

CHICAGO (AP)—The second-place Houston Astros packed three homers into the 18-hit explosion in defeating the Chicago Cubs 11-6 Saturday as 18-year-old Larry Dierker posted nis first major league victory.

Dierker took over for starter Don Nottebart in the fifth inning.

Rusty Staub, Jim Wynn and Joe Morgan hit homers en route to Houston's season high total of hits in beating the Cubs a fifth time in six games.

Ernie Banks and George Altman homered for the Cubs. Banks' homer was his sixth to account for his 29th run batted in — high in the majors.

Four innings later Banks singled for the No. 1,800 hit of his Cub career, now in its 12th full season.

Reds 10, Pirates 0

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Deron Johnson slammed a three-run homer, capping a five-run uprising in the fourth inning, and the Cincinnati Reds trounced Pittsburg 10-1 Saturday.

The Reds' outburst came on seven consecutive hits that sent Pirates starter Bob Veale to the showers.

The victory gave Cincinnati pitcher Jim Maloney his fourth victory of the season against no defeats and snapped a four-game losing streak for the Reds.

It was Veale's first defeat against two victories.

Body Is Identified

MADRID, Spain, (AP) — The Spanish Ministry of Justice Saturday identified one of the bodies found buried in rude graves on Spanish soil two weeks ago as that of Humberto Delgado.

A communique from the Justice Ministry said the identity of the former Portuguese opposition leader had been established by an investigating judge in Badajoz.

The body of Delgado was found in Villafranca del Fresno, two miles from the Portuguese frontier, on April 24.

Youth Corps Helping

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said Saturday nearly 5,000 members of the Neighborhood Youth Corps are helping to repair public facilities damaged last month by floods and tornadoes in Wisconsin, Arkansas, Michiga, Missouri and Minnesota.

"I am pleased by the quick response and effective action taken by the governors of these states to use the labor department's neighborhood youth corps in this emergency," Johnson said.

Revenue Department Section Chief Quits

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A section chief in the state revenue Department has resigned at the request of Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

Hearnes said Thursday he asked Charles Birdsong to quit after irregularities were discovered. Birdsong, 35, has been an employe in the department since 1953, Hearnes said.

The governor called it a ticklish situation and said the amount of the discrepancies has not been fully determined.

The matter has been referred to Haskell Holman, state auditor and Cole County Prosecuting Attorney James T. Riley.

Tempestuous and fiery Gina Lollobrigida matches Rock Hudson word for word in the family quarrel brought on by her championing of a weird minority cause in Universal's zany romantic comedy, "Strange Bedfellows," photographed in Technicolor. It was produced and directed by Melvin Frank.
NOW SHOWING AT THE FOX THEATRE

Yogi Bear, Cindy Bear, and little Boo-Boo are shown whisteling one of the song hits from their new all-cartoon comedy hit, HEY THERE, IT'S YOGI BEAR. It's Yogi's first full-length cartoon feature, and it starts tonight at the 50 DRIVE IN THEATRE. To round out the evening of family entertainment, the co-feature is an all-star western action hit, JOHNNY GUITAR, with Joan Crawford and Sterling Hayden.

Saturn V Booster Engines Test Fired

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — The five engines of the Saturn V booster rocket — the largest this nation has built — have been test-fired for a second time, this time for a period of 15 seconds.

The booster developed a thrust of 7½ million pounds during the brief testing at the Marshall Space Flight Center Thursday.

The test is one of several to be conducted this spring on the rocket stage. A test laboratory spokesman said tests of the booster will gradually increase in duration until a full-length firing of 2½ minutes is reached.

French Air Staff Officers Visit Whiteman Facilities

By EILEEN MARSH

Three French Air Force officers, Col. Louis M. R. Benoit, Lt. Col. Andre G. Labansat and Commandant (Maj.) Lucien Parent, of the French air staff in Paris, visited Whiteman this week and received a Minuteman missile orientation briefing and tour of facilities.

Lt. Col. Clem V. Charbonneau, deputy for wing operations, project officer and Capt. Raymond E. Beery, wing standardization division and 510th Strategic Missile Squadron, escort officer, met the visitors in Kansas City Sunday. Later that day they were greeted at an informal gathering in the Officers Open Mess by Col. Perier A. Koenig, director of operations, 17th Strategic Missile Division.

At dinner afterward the French officers enjoyed talking to Chaplain (Capt.) Ernest P. Moreau and Capt. Beery in French. Father Moreau is a French Canadian by birth, having spoken French primarily until he was 20 years old. Capt. Beery, stationed at Laon AB, France from 1957 to 1960, is fluent in French, German and Spanish and his major field of study was political science at the University of Kansas where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

Monday the air staff people were greeted by Col. George T. Chadwell, commander, 351st Strategic Missile Wing; Col. Hollis H. Baker, wing deputy for operations and Col. George R. Brendle, wing deputy for maintenance.

The day's itinerary and program included a briefing by Capt. Beery, a tour of "November" launch control facility and launch facility, with time out for lunch at the LCF.

Enroute to the site the visitors commented with admiration on the lush, green, rich farmland, crops and top grade cattle. They expressed surprise at the obscurity of the launch facility flush with the ground and barely discernible from any distance. The capsule itself and maintenance aspects were of special interest to them, and particularly the redundancy built into the system in the interests of reliability under operational conditions.

Late that day Colonel Brendle, assisted by Lt. Col. Robert G. Cochrane, chief, maintenance control division, provided the Frenchmen a maintenance briefing (in French by Colonel Cochrane who had been assigned to the Military Advisory Group in France 10 years ago). The men saw special purpose vehicles, the targeting and alignment trainer and bench maintenance.

They left Tuesday from Kansas City to complete their week's tour of various facilities in the United States. France is building up an intermediate range ballistic missile system and under the NATO agreements our country extends a limited information program to our allies.

NIKE missiles, in the United States assigned to the Army, are part of the French Air Force responsibilities in some locations in Europe under NATO

Major Parent attended the NIKE missile course at Fort Bliss, Tex. from 1957 to 1959 and has returned there for annual firing practice (much like our SAC operational testing launches at Vandenberg) in 1960 and 1961. He established and commanded France's first NIKE battalion. A veteran of 17 years' service, he is a graduate of the French Air Force Academy and the Air Defense School, Fort Bliss. His wife's name is Genevieve and he has two sons, Olivier and Christophe.

Colonel Benoit, with 26 years of active duty time, is a product of the French Air Force Academy, completed flying training in the United States in 1945, has 5000 hours of flying time and is highly decorated having been named an Officier de la Legion d'Honneur. He is an aeronautical engineer. The colonel and his wife, Suzanne, have three children, Patrice, Jean-Luc and Michel.

Colonel Labansat came to the United States in 1954 to attend the instrument pilot training school at Moody AFB, Ga. and also participated in NIKE annual firing practice at Fort Bliss in 1960. A veteran of 20 years' service, he has 2500 hours of flying time and has been commander of a NIKE battalion. He is a graduate of the French Air Force Academy. He, his wife Janine and their children, Frank, Xavier, Caroline and Fabienne, live in Paris.

Immediately before departing the base, the French officers, officially and in the Gallic tradition, took formal leave in Col. Chadwell's office, thanking him for the highly informative orientation and hospitality given them at Whiteman.

On Target With Local National Guard

PAUSE AT FIRING RANGE—At a special range at Fort Leonard Wood, two Sedalia National Guard members look up from target practice. Both named Wolf, they are, in the foreground, SFC Gordon L. Wolf, 1208 South Murray, chief of Firing Battery C, 1st Howitzer Battalion, 128th Artillery. Behind him is SP 4-c John E. Wolf, 1420 South Vermont, a survey computer with headquarters Battery, 135th Artillery Group. They have been firing with 30 caliber machine guns. (Photos by Ernest B. De Camp)

Each year, the two Sedalia units of Missouri Army National Guard move out of Sedalia and into Fort Leonard Wood for summer field training. Headquarters Battery, 135th Artillery Group and "C" Battery, 1st Howitzer Battalion, 128th Artillery, made the jurket last weekend.

All artillery in the Missouri Army National Guard (three artillery battalions and an aviation support company), are under command of the 135th group.

Some of the men had to qualify this year with the M-1 rifle. This is required every three years.

Added to familiarization with firing M-1's, routine field movements are engaged in. Procedures for regular duty, combat maneuvering, intelligence operations, pitching bivouac areas and general training for living, working and fighting under field conditions are all part of the annual exodus from civilian living into army training areas and firing ranges.

Year 'round, troops train at the Armory in Sedalia, Ninth and Osage, and at locations throughout the state and nation —ready to be called at a moment's notice for active duty, trained and equipped for action.

Military Might On Display At Whiteman Today

COOKOUT IN A TRUCK—SP 4-c Melvin Thierfelder, Route 1 Smithton, first cook for Headquarters Battery, 135th Artillery Group, stands in front of an Army portable stove and oven combination. The large cooking pot has been pulled out from over the open flames. Below the pot, a gasoline cook-unit is located. The unit stays on a 2½ ton truck, used exclusively for preparation of meals.

FIRE!—Lt. Col. Peyton T. Russell, battalion commander of the 1st Howitzer Battalion, 128th Artillery, is poised to fire his .45 caliber pistol on the special .45 range at Fort Leonard Wood last weekend.

TO BED—Preparing for overnight bivouac in the field, men from "A" Battery of the 128th, pitch shelter-halves together to make two man tents. In the background, smaller ¾ ton trucks have their hoods back so drivers may check oil and other regular maintenance points. The scene is a common sight during annual summer training, when tactical conditions are observed while in the field.

ROCKET AT THE READY — PFC Richard D. Stober, 2212 West First, left, holds a projectile for s-3.5 rocket launcher, while the weapon is sighted by PFC Georgie W. Karman, Cole Camp. Loading and firing is being directed and controlled by a range officer. Men are responding to orders from a commander in a tower while preparing to fire. The rocket will blast off toward an obsolete salvaged tank target, sitting some distant from the firing bunker.

FLANKED BY SEDALIANS—SFC Milton D. Cook, St. Louis, chief of detail, "C" Battery, 1/128, is flanked on the left, by Captain Russell Rhoads, 1718 West Fourth, intelligence officer of the 1st Howitzer Battalion, 129th Artillery. On the right is Captain Henry Leroy Iuchs, 700 West Fourth, commanding officer, "C" Battery, 1/128.

THIRST QUENCER — 1st Lt. Terry G. Howes, 1009 South Vermont, prepares to drink water from his canteen before filling it at the water trailer nearby. Howes is assistant executive officer of "G" Battery. He was range safety officer during firing on the 30 caliber M-1 range.

FIGHTERS AT CLEARING — Artillerymen Cpl. Jimmie Wise, Route 4, and Cpl. Edward Weller, 1801 South Missouri, stand in filtered sunlight with freshly cleaned Browning automatic rifles. The men are members of "C" Battery, 1st Howitzer Battalion, 128th Artillery. They took part in the two day training exercises at Fort Leonard Wood.

Mrs. Clayton O. Morris, Jr.

Miss Linda Joy Strader Marries Mister Clayton O. Morris, Jr.

An arch candelabrum, holding 15 white cathedral candles and decorated with emerald foliage, white stock and pink majestic daisies, centered the altar of First Baptist Church for the marriage of Miss Linda Joy Strader to Mr. Clayton O. Morris, Jr., at seven o'clock Saturday evening, April 24.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Strader, 1634 South Carr. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Clayton O. Morris, 322 East 14th.

The Rev. J. R. Wallace, pastor, heard double ring vows at the altar. In addition to the center candelabrum, two nine branch candelabra, enhanced with similar flowers and foliage, were at the altar sides. White satin bows marked pews and a white aisle carpet covered the bridal aisle. Large emerald palms framed the candlelight setting.

At the organ, Mrs. J. W. Watts played "I Love Thee," Grieg; "O Perfect Love," Diggle; "Always," Berlin; "I Love You Truly," Bond; "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," Herbert; "The Twelfth of Never," Livingston; "O Promise Me," DeKoven; "Bridal Chorus," Lohrengrin; "Recessional," Mendelssohn. Mrs. Watts accompanied Mr. Larry Owen, as he sang "Because," d'Hardelot, and "The Lord's Prayer," Malotte.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk mist taffeta in contemporary design. The molded bodice was styled with long tapered sleeves and a bateau neckline. Floral sprays of Alencon lace, centered with pearls, were appliqued on the yoke and the front of the slender sheath skirt. At the back, pleated fullness, held at the waist with a small flat bow, formed a square, brush length panel train. A pillbox of taffeta and lace, heavily embroidered with pearls, held her veil of imported silk illusion. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

The bride carried a cascade of white roses and Stephanotis, centered with a detachable corsage of white Cymbidium orchids.

Miss Sharon Deck, maid of honor, wore a sheath skirted floor length gown of shrimp chiffon over taffeta. Elbow sleeves and a bateau neckline were styling features. Her wide waist sash, tied in a bow at the back waist, fell in streamers to the floor over the sheath skirt.

Bridesmaid Miss Donna Warbritton, was dressed like the maid of honor. Each wore a white gold necklace, a gift from the bride, with her costume. Bridal assistants carried cascade arrangements of red roses with pink satin trim.

Tulle veils were attached to the large bow headdresses made of the same pink material as the bridal attendants' gowns.

Mr. David Smith was best man. Groomsman was Mr. Edward Young, cousin of the bridegroom. Serving as ushers were Mr. Ralph Strader, Jr., brother of the bride, Mr. Dennis Morris brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Bobby Spears.

For her daughter's wedding, the mother of the bride selected an azure blue knit suit, with blue accessories. Her corsage was of blue fringed carnations. The mother of the bridegroom chose a mint green suit of liner, with accessories of black. Her corsage was of mint green fringed carnations.

At a reception at the church, following the ceremony, where approximately 150 guests were received, the bride's table was covered with floor length white lace over pink. Centering the table, was a four tiered cake, bracketed with white tapers in silver candelabra. Garlands of smilax were caught at intervals around the table edge with pink and rose satin bows. Pink sweetheart roses and smilax encircled the cake and candelabra bases.

Serving at the bride's table were Mrs. Nell Pettigrew, Mrs. Bill Deck, Miss Lynn Leftwich, Mrs. L. R. Butcher, Miss Donna Lower and Miss Barbara Burford.

Gifts were received for the couple by Miss Phyllis Lively. Names of guests were registered in a book attended by Miss Ellen Griffin.

Following the reception, the couple left for a trip to the Lake of the Ozarks. Cranberry red trim and accessories and a white Cymbidium orchid accented the bride's traveling suit of turquoise double knit.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of Smith-Cotton High School and is employed by Universal CIT. The bridegroom, a 1961 graduate of Smith-Cotton, was employed by the Missouri Highway Commission, until his induction into the service in February of this year. He completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood and is stationed at Fort Dix, N.J.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts at dinner in the church dining room, following rehearsal the evening of April 23.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hubner, 1220 South Ohio, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of Mrs. Hubner's daughter, Miss Frances Richey, to Mr. Jesse Paxton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse J. Paxton, Route 3. Miss Richey is also the daughter of Mr. Russell Richey, Ellisville, Mo. The wedding is planned for June 5 at Calvary Baptist Church.

Mrs. Paul Robert Kehl

Beverly Jean Allen Is Bride Of Paul Robert Kehl May First

Faith Baptist Church was the scene of the marriage of Miss Beverly Jean Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Allen, 715 East 24th, to Mr. Paul Robert Kehl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kehl, 1500 East Broadway, at two o'clock Saturday afternoon, May 1.

Before an altar setting of baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli, the Rev. Roger Martin, read double ring vows.

Mrs. Joy Martin played traditional organ selections. She also accompanied Mr. Russell McFatrich, uncle of the bridegroom, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

A gown of white lace over taffeta was worn by the bride. It was styled with Sabrina neckline, long sleeves, tapered to points over the hands, and a molded bodice. On each side of the full skirt was a scalloped insert of lace on lace, embroidered with pearls and crystals. At her neck, she wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. An open crown of iridescent pearls and crystals held her shoulder length veil.

The bride's bouquet was of Stephanotis and ivy, around a center white orchid and was tied with tiny satin streamers of white. The bouquet was attached to a white Bible.

Maid of honor was Miss Betty Sylvester, who was dressed in a street length blue lace gown with elbow length sleeves. Her Dior head bow secured a matching veil. She carried a crescent style bouquet of blue fringed Killian daisies.

Mr. Jack Smith was best man. Ushers were Mr. Larry Kehl, cousin of the bridegroom, and Mr. Bill Eckhoff, Columbia, uncle of the bride.

A two piece powder blue lace dress and hat were worn by the mother of the bride. Her accessories were bone colored and her corsage of white carnations. At the shoulder of her beige linen and lace sheath, the mother of the bridegroom wore a bronze chrysanthemum corsage. Her accessories were beige and brown.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts at a reception for 85 guests at their home after the ceremony. Garlanded with smilax, and caught at the corners with large blue bows, white linen covered the bride's table. The bridal tier of all white wedding cake was highlighted with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Blue flowers and smilax were arranged around the base of the cake. Blue tapers were held by silver candelabra. Reception hostesses were Mrs. John Kubli, Mrs. John Cook and Mrs. George Thompson.

Punch was served by Mrs. Bill Eckhoff, Columbia, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Larry Moore, Smithton, aunt of the bridegroom, served cake.

Attending gifts were Mrs. Buddy Williams. Miss Pamela Jones, cousin of the bridegroom, presided at the guest book.

The couple left for a wedding trip to the Ozarks. For traveling, the bride wore a green floral dress, accessorized with white and the orchid taken from the center of the bridal bouquet. The couple is at home at 705 Lee, Columbia.

A graduate of Smith-Cotton High School and Missouri Training Development Authority School, the bride is employed by Missouri Crippled Children's Service, Columbia.

The bridegroom was graduated from Smithton High School and Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg. He is employed with Lindsey Rentals, Columbia.

Mrs. Betty Meyer, Columbia, was hostess at a personal shower honoring Miss Allen April 16.

Guests were Miss Allen, Miss Melbe Scyoc, Miss Ila Mae Hoffman, Mrs. Violette Reagan, and Mrs. Inez Baird.

They were served cake, decorated with pink rosebuds, pink and white sherbet and punch. Favors were small pink umbrellas.

A miscellaneous shower was given for the bride by Mrs. John Kubli and Mrs. Hugh Jones April 24 at the Kubli home, 1400 East Broadway.

Centerpiece of the bride's table was a white lace umbrella, anchored in a silver bowl, which contained white chrysanthemums and blue statica.

Two tiny white wedding bells tied in blue were placed on each piece of cake, which was served with punch, nuts, mints and ice cream to Miss Allen, her mother, Mrs. Don Allen; Mrs. Harry Kehl, Mrs. Bob West, Mrs. Leon White, Mrs. Glenn McFatrich, Mrs. Russell McFatrich and Mitzi, Mrs. James McFatrich, Mrs. Larry Moore, Mrs. Leo Le Tourneau, Mrs. Bill Eckhoff, and Mrs. John Miller, Columbia. Miss Betty Sylvester, Mrs. Clell Furnell, Mrs. Ralph Barry, and Mrs. Earl Cline.

---

Mrs. Jane Parker, 1700 South Harrison, entertained at a miscellaneous shower for the bride April 29. Mrs. Adell Knapp and Mrs. Mary Swisher assisted in serving rosebud decorated cake, ice cream and lime punch to: Miss Allen, Mrs. Donald Allen, Mrs. Ruby Brummet, Mrs. Joy Martin, Mrs. Evelyn Rodgers, Mrs. Ester Berkstresser, Mrs. E. S. Brummet.

Flat Creek Extension Tours Kim Originals

The Flat Creek Extension Club toured Kim Originals, ate lunch and shopped before attending the meeting at the REA building, where Miss Opal O'Briant gave a review on "How Do You Spend Your Time?" There were 16 members and a guest, Mrs. Myrtle Wilhart, who made the tour and attended the meeting.

A planter was selected by the group during the tour for Mrs. Louis Seifner, who is ill.

The May meeting will be at the Community House with Mrs. Ada Ficken, hostess, and Mrs. Louis Wilken and Mrs. C. L. Wadleight assisting. The program will be on Clothing, with Mrs. E. H. Eshleman and Mrs. Olyn Rugen in charge.

Mrs. K. C. Cowan

Miss Gloria Jeanne Rouchka Is Bride of Mr. K. C. Cowan

Miss Gloria Jeanne Rouchka, Raytown, was united in marriage to Mr. K. C. Cowan, also of Raytown, at eleven o'clock Saturday morning, April 24, at St. Patrick's Church. The Rev. Henry Riechert solemnized double ring vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Pete Warren, Route 1, and of Mr. Robert Rouchka, 600 East Ninth. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mary Margaret Cowan, Kansas City, and the late Mr. Cowan.

Vases of white gladioli and blue majestic daisies were used on the altar.

St. Patrick's Church Choir sang, with organ accompaniment.

Given in marriage by her step-father, Mr. Pete Warren, the bride wore a dress of white lace over taffeta. Her illusion veil was held by a pillbox of lace. Her slippers were of white peau de soie. She carried a cascade bouquet of a white orchid and Stephanotis, tied with streamers.

Miss Ruth Kempf, Raytown, was maid of honor. Her blue suit was trimmed with white lace. She wore matching blue shoes, a bow hat and white gloves. Her crescent bouquet was composed of yellow majestic daisies.

Best man was Mr. Robert Ruff, Kansas City.

The bride's mother was attired in a pink suit with white accessories. The mother of the bridegroom selected a brown suit and accessories of beige. Their corsages were of white orchids.

LeRoy's Steak House was the scene of a reception following the ceremony and was attended by approximately 35 members of the couple's families.

The bridal table was covered with white linen and centered with a traditional wedding cake. At one end of the table was a punch bowl and crystal candelabra held lighted tapers, and were entwined with smilax. Guests were served by Mrs. James Cunningham and Miss Mildred Warren.

The bride selected a blue suit, white accessories and an orchid corsage for the wedding trip to Southern Missouri. The couple is at home at 7422 Overton, Raytown.

The bride was graduated from Smith-Cotton High School and Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg. She teaches at Northwood School, Raytown. The bridegroom was graduated from Western State College, Gunnison, Colo., and is employed at Underwood Olivetti Corporation, Kansas City.

Miss Rouchka was entertained at several showers preceding the wedding.

Mrs. Dick Sklar and daughter, Diane, Kansas City, were hostesses at a kitchen shower, attended by Northwood School teachers.

Mrs. William Weseloh, 1908 South Washington, and Mrs. J. P. Norton, entertained at a miscellaneous shower in the bride's honor.

Mrs. Mary K. Hunter Elected President of Local BPW

Mrs. Mary Kay Hunter, wife of Shelby Hunter, 624 East 14th, was elected president of the Business and Professional Women's Club Thursday night at the dinner meeting of that organization at Bothwell Hotel.

Other officers elected were Miss Helen Giokaris, president elect; Miss Erna Ann McClure, vice-president; Mrs. Vivian Warren, treasurer; and Mrs. Shirley Pahlow, secretary.

The speaker of the evening was James T. Denny, who was introduced by Mrs. Virginia Gilpin, chairman of the finance committee in charge of the program.

Denny, who chose as his subject: "The Hobby of Collecting Coins," began his talk by telling about his daughter when she was a small girl asking him for a quarter. When he asked her what she wanted it for she replied: "Money is always handy to have."

The coins he has collected he has found are handy to have for some of them are worth a great deal of money. He doesn't even keep his valuables at home but in a lock-box.

Denny said that he started collecting coins five years ago when he went to a friends house and saw a stack of Indian head pennies on a table. Asking what they were he was told of the coin collection hobby and told those were spares, so he bought them and started on the coin collecting hobby.

Among his collection rares is Greek coin, the turtle, 550 BC, which was the first coin in existence. He said there were others, but he has one of these first coins.

He had one, also, in the shape of a dolphin, which he said were hammered out. The dolphin coin was ARICO coins from the lack Sea area before 600 BC.

The first coin minted in this country, Denny said, was the 1793 big penny and he went on to explain that the colonists all contributed copper for this, with George Washington giving his prized copper teapot. Denny has a collection of these big pennies.

These were the type pennies used from 1793 to 1856, he stated, and from 1856 to 1909 came the Indian head pennies. From 1883 to 1912 were the V nickels and this was a short set. Then came the buffalo nickels one rare one being the three legged buffalo, they somehow left off one of the buffalo's legs. The uncirculated Jefferson nickel from 1938 to 1964 is worth $100.

When he started collecting, Denny said, he was told by collectors that silver dollars were of little value and not to bother with them and he didn't. Silver dollars were minted in Carson City, and various other places, which they have quit minting, are worth a lot of money. The peace dollar is worth $1,100, he said.

Explaining an uncirculated coin, Denny said that these are coins that have never been touched by human hands and collectors use gloves and tweezers. An uncirculated coin has no scratch marks, and even just pushing a coin across a table will scratch it.

The uncirculated Franklin half dollar is worth about $200, Denny said, and the Kennedy half dollar with the seal on the back is very valuable now because they have stopped minting them.

Key coins in sets are worth more than others some being worth two or three hundred dollars. Coins become valuable because of low mintage, he said.

The values of coins are like the Indian head that is almost good, good, good plus, fine, fine plus, extra fine.

Everyone, said Denny should have a hobby, something to be interested in. The saddest thing that happens to people is not to be interested in something.

The special music was by Raymond Hall, director of music at the First Baptist Church, who sang "Old Man River" and "I Believe" with Mrs. Hall at the piano. They were introduced by Miss Blanche Faust.

Mrs. Lily Thomas, president, presided over the meeting, with invocation by Miss Bessie Perkins, chaplain.

Mrs. Shirley Pahlow led the pep singing with Mrs. Ethel Pugh as accompanist.

Guests introduced by Mrs. Evelyn Hagemeier were: Mrs. Lucille Scotten Walters, Albuquerque, N. M., guest of Mrs. Maria Walkup; Mrs. Barbara Jonson, guest of Mrs. Virginia Gilpin; Mrs. Mary Genelle Streit, guest of Miss Erna Ann McClure; Mrs. Anna Mary Welch, guest of Mrs. Bertha Welch and Mrs. C. Harris, guest of Mrs. Jessie Goist.

Highlights of the state convention held in St. Louis were given with the biggest highlight being the election of Mrs. Marjorie Garansson as first vice-president.

The Sedalia Club received the program award, which Mrs. Hunter said she had the privilege of accepting because the president, Mrs. Thomas, was serving on a committee at the time.

Three other awards were received, one for stabilizing, one for equalization of members and one for sponsoring a new club.

Marjorie Garansson was also elected as a state delegate to the national convention. A party will be given for gold card members, with Mrs. Garansson and Mrs. Vivian Warren both being gold card members, and will atttnd.

The activities at the state convention Saturday were given by Mrs. Garansson, the Sunday morning breakfast by Mrs. Hunter and the Saturday night banquet by Mrs. Mildred Bowman.

Mrs. Thomas told of serving on the nominating committee and assisting on the credentials committee.

Mrs. Marguerite Scott told of the popularity of Miss Hazel Palmer, a past national president, with BPWC members from everywhere and said how proud she was that this distinguished person was a member of the Sedalia Club.

Mrs. Nyra Price, membership chairman, installed two new members, Mrs. Barbara Arnold and Mrs. Martha Deck, both second generation BPW members.

The by-laws report was given by Mrs. Vivian Warren.

Members of Mrs. Gilpin's committee were: Miss Margaret Ferguson, Mrs. Evelyn Hagemeier, Mrs. Minnie Herrick, Mrs. Elva Lewis, Mrs. Wilma Pharris, Mrs. Vivian Warren and Mrs. Jeanette York.

Table decorations were in gold and silver with candy in the form of gold coins, placemats were large printed bank checks and the arrangement on the head table was of gold chrysanthemums.

Nuzum-Palmer Vows

Mrs. Virginia Nuzum, daughter of Mrs. Conrad Lang, 2315 West Fifth, was married to Mr. David Palmer, son of Mrs. Mary Palmer, 210 West Eleventh, at eleven o'clock Saturday morning, April 24, in the parsonage of the Rev. F. C. Laudick, pastor of Sacred Heart Church.

WHAT FURNITURE AGE ARE WE IN NOW?

Mrs. Studer

In a future book on Interior Decorating, the 1960's undoubtedly will be known as the "Age of individualism". It is an age in which many previous notions, rules and ideas on decoration have been discarded; an age in which originality, inventiveness and individuality have been given free reign.

Gone are the stereotyped arrangements which were seen in too many homes — such as the sofa with matching end tables and lamps on each side with a mirror or picture centered over the sofa — just as the standard 9x12 rug was once used in a room of any size.

In furnishing your home now it is important to use your own individualism, self-expression, and your own likes and dislikes. So many people are afraid to be different in selecting their furnishings, with the result that — for example — too many people "play it safe" by using neutral colors when they really love bright colors, or by matching instead of mixing wood finishes and periods.

A courageous splash of color — or the use of a piece of furniture different than anyone else has used — is very often the difference between decorating and just furnishing.

To see the latest and best selection of furniture, and to get ideas for your home, we invite you to come in and visit with us.

Make your home fresh as Spring. Call TA 6-2122 or visit Homakers. We'll be glad to assist you with your Home Decorating problems.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says "there were no 'Pentagon-sponsored" flights to the Masters Golf Tournament at Augusta, Ga., this year."

The statement was issued Thursday after Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, charged in a newsletter that hundreds of officers and civilian officials made the trip.

Young said $20,000 was spent "to prepare barracks to house the generals and other top brass."

The Defense Department replied that "No personnel, equipment or funds were used to open or prepare any billets beyond those normally in use at Ft. Gordon (near Augusta)."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House heaped praise on the National Aeornautics and Space Administration Thursday, then passed a $5.1-billion space authorization bill.

The vote was 388 to 11.

The authorization bill fixes ceiling figures with the actual money amounts to be determined later in an appropriations bill.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission says business mergers increased last year.

In its annual report, the commission said there were 1,797 mergers, up 300 from 1963. The FTC records only those mergers listed in national trade and investment publications. Its figures do not include such industries as insurance and transportation over which it has no jurisdiction.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department reported Thursday that strikes cost the nation's economy some 5 million man-days during the first quarter of 1964. This was the highest first-quarter figure since 1956.

Say Jobless Youth Are Big Threat

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO warned Friday that the soaring youth unemployment problem is a major threat, not only to the economy but to the democratic structure of the nation.

In the wake of discouraging new government figures on jobless youths, the labor federation said: "It was the jobless, disillusioned youths who grasped at the 'solutions' offered by Hitler. . . . America can ill afford to have this sort of discontent among large segments of its population."

Federal antipoverty and school-aid programs are not enough to solve the problem, said an article in the labor organization's magazine, The American Federationist.

The article coincided with the Labor Department's monthly employment report, showing that an early surge of school-age youths seeking jobs had boosted the nation's jobless rate from 4.7 to 4.9 per cent of the labor force in April.

Youth unemployment is expected to hit a peak of 2 million in June as high schools and colleges pour out a flood of young job seekers.

The AFL-CIO said only federal economic policies geared to create new jobs rapidly will ultimately solve the problem.

Higherwages and Social Security benefits, shorter hours to spread employment, and more federal spending for roads, hospitals, education and housing are urgently needed, it said.

"The challenge confronting the country is tremendous," it added.

Without new jobs, government training and education programs will fail, it said, adding: "They can lead only to a better-trained, better-educated body of unemployed."

The federation said 1.5 million of the 4 million unemployed last year were under age 25.

"Although these young workers made up less than 20 per cent of the civilian work force, they accounted for more than 40 per cent of the nation's unemployed."

People In The News

NEW YORK (AP)—Princess Benedikte of Denmark and Princess Grace of Monaco, the former movie star Grace Kelly, exchanged greetings Thursday night during a chance meeting in a New York supper club.

Princess Benedikte arrived in this country last Monday on a nine-day visit. Princess Grace returned to the States April 28 to attend the wedding of a niece in her hometown of Philadelphia.

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress June Allyson left Roosevelt Hospital Thursday saying she was feeling fine.

Miss Allyson, 40, had entered the hospital Monday after suffering her third kidney stone attack in almost four years. She said doctors had prescribed medication and dieting.

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says "The people of Europe don't have an understanding of the situation in the Caribbean or Viet Nam."

"We should restate our reasons . . . particularly in the Dominican Republic where we are attempting to prevent a Communist takeover," Nixon told newsmen Thursday upon his arrival after a two-day visit to Europe.

Actor Uses Own Face First Time

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Yes, that's right," said Richard Attenborough, "I'm using my own face for the first time."

Attenborough — British Academy Award-winning actor and upcoming director of the late Mahatma Gandhi's film biography — displayed a round, smiling, boyish face.

Only a small, fake scar slashing his right eyebrow marred his lack of disguise.

It was the touch of unrealism needed for rehearsals of "Flight of The Phoenix," in which he plays a drunken navigator crashed in the Sahara Desert, with Jimmy Stewart and Peter Finch.

"Jimmy Stewart is part of Hollywood's golden age," said Attenborough during a rehearsal break. "I've been in this business for a while, but it's a joy working with such a legendary figure."

Attenborough is on his way to becoming a legend himself.

Like another Britisher, Peter Sellers, he can submerge himself in a character so thoroughly even his friends are tempted to ask, "Will the real Richard Attenborough please stand up?"

With a brush mustache and a baton under his arm, he was the very proper British sergeant major in "Guns of Batasi." The role won him this year's British acting award.

Sans baton, still with mustache and in a baggy pair of British tweeds, he was the harassed but loving husband of spiritualist Kim Stanley in "Seance on a Wet Afternoon."

Aided by his wartime friendship with Lord Louis Mountbatten, the last British viceroy in India, Attenborough became friendly with Indian Prime Minister Nehru before his death.

He spent five months in India lining up the Mahatma Gandhi picture.

"Nehru was a great help," says Richard. "He gathered together all of Gandhi's relatives and told me all kinds of little-known facts about Gandhi. He offered all the facilities we needed.

"Then he died.

"His death has postponed the picture. But next year, the Indian government willing, we'll film it in India and in Africa, where Gandhi spent his early days."

Today and All Tomorrows

Quite properly tributes to mothers should be volunteered today. For this is Mother's Day which occurs always on the second Sunday of May.

Recognitions will be accorded by sons and daughters with a variety of material gifts. The best gift of all will be a verbal one of appreciation the genuineness and sincerity of which only a mother can quietly sense and evaluate.

But one day in the year for tokens of esteem by whatever form they may take are insufficient. Mothers deserve more than this although being put upon a pedestal of honor is stimulating even for a day.

Expressions of love and loyalty are more effective if they come by the avenues of faithfulness, trustworthiness and a dedication by children to the respect and veneration all mothers must receive.

Whenever this principle diminishes as a result of indifference mixed with thoughtlessness on the part of children, then the supporting pillars of a moral civilization will begin to sag.

This axiom is something to think about today and do something about tomorrow and all the days to come in every household in the land.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

An intensive campaign to stop all traffic violations in Sedalia will begin immediately according to Police Chief H. Anderson. The speed limit is 25 miles an hour except in the downtown district where it is 20 miles. Those who violate these regulations, who run red lights, double park and in other ways do not conform to regulations will be arrested and fined. Herman Fischer, traffic officer, will give his undivided attention to this division of police work.

FORTY YEARS AGO

George Dugan, 1623 South Kentucky avenue, reported to the police that his Ford touring car, stolen Monday night, was found in the 700 block on East Fourth street.

Mothers of Presidents

By CYRENE DEAR

The mothers of our presidents have played important roles in our government. Not going too far back in this generation Sara Delano Roosevelt was more dominant in her son Franklin's life than his wife Eleanor. She ruled the Hyde Park roost, bossed the grandchildren and in her eyes, her son could do no wrong.

President Truman's "mama" was ever in his thoughts. She visited the White House whenever her health permitted but she was content to remain in the reflected glory of her country boy, who became president of the United States.

President Eisenhower's mother was a sturdy pioneer and the mother of seven sons. She raised them with strict religious discipline in a sect called the Brethren in Christ. She and "Ike's" father were opposed to military service, but did not restrain him when he won the West Point appointment. She did not live to experience all the honors heaped upon her famous son.

Rose Kennedy, the mother of the late assassinated president will always be known as a woman of almost supernatural faith and strength. Having lost three children in tragic deaths and known the hardships of bringing up a retarded daughter, she has set an example of courage as a mother of nine children, each one dedicated to some form of public service.

Rebekah Baines Johnson, had five children. She made them "toe the mark," especially in school and church, and help around the house. Her son Lyndon was the eldest. She lived to hear his name placed in nomination for President at the Democratic Convention in 1956 but not to see him finally become President.

Perhaps the greatest tribute paid to a mother of any president was that made by Abraham Lincoln—"What I am or ever hope to be, I owe to my angel mother."

Guest Editorials

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR: I Know That's What I Said, but . . .—Is it false advertising to offer a car for "only 1,395 bananas" — and then refuse to sell when a woman brings in a down payment of 25 bananas? When this situation recently occurred in Connecticut the woman reportedly filed a complaint.

In our opinion the man was fortunate that she brought a down payment and not the whole price in cold hard bananas. Bananas on the line, in other words. Or bananas on the barrel head.

Of course, the purchasing power of the banana isn't what is used to be. It is a bit dubious to say something is as sound as a banana. The banana watch is a thing of the past. And as for banana diplomacy. . . .

Alas, somebody is always taking someone literally, as that Connecticut auto dealer now has found out. We hope the experience does not blight his creative instinct. (The lady did wind up getting the car for bananas.) There are enough sobersides bound to a world of dollars and cents.

Surely he would not be misunderstood if he changed his offer to something like a thousand clams. We know a fellow who still has the first clam he ever earned.

Rah, Rah, Aggies!

The Department of Agriculture is still the largest in the government except Defense.

Only 8 per cent of our population is rural, and yet it produces all of our food for home consumption, all the food for the needy which is provided by the government, plus all the food in our Food for Peace Program (paid for by foreign nations), plus all the food surplus stored throughout the country.

The various types of research done by the thousands of scientists working in the Department have obtained such results as mass production of penicillin and other antibiotics, improved nutrition for animals as well as humans, soil conservation, forest preservation and pest control, experiments in textiles producing stretch and unshrinkable fabrics and colorfast materials.

The Department of Agriculture has saved $1 billion dollars in operating since 1961. Savings included elimination of out-dated and useless reports, reduction in paper work and staff.

The Department's first responsibility is still to aid the farmer. Working closely with the President's poverty program, it hopes to rid America of rural slums, and through its various agencies make the family size farm a successful commercial enterprise in this country.

Folger Library, Washington, D. C., contains more material relating to Shakespeare and his writings than any other institution of its kind.

Juan Bosch Choosy About Airplanes

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON —Juan Bosch, idealistic, naive patriot and first duly-elected president of the Dominican Republic in 32 years, probably lost the chance to resume the presidency because he was too choosy about the airplane to carry him back.

During the height of the Dominican revolution when the rebels were winning, friendly Latin Americans sent a message to him in San Juan, Puerto Rico, asking why he didn't come back.

"There is no plane," replied Bosch.

The Latin leaders knew there was a plane and told Bosch so.

"It's not the right kind of a plane," he said.

Remarked Ambassador Tejera-Paris of Venezuela, who has helped stage revolutions against other dictators: "I never saw a time when I couldn't smuggle myself back into my own country. President Betancourt has done so when his country was occupied by Perez Jimenez. So has President Leoni. If a man wants to lead he can lead."

Bosch apparently did not want to lead enough to ride in a small airplane.

Cutrate Medicine

The late Sen. Olin Johnston, D-S.C., who always voted for medical benefits for the needy, never would go to a government hospital for his own treatment.

He insisted on going home to South Carolina, even for the operation that preceded his death.

In contrast, his colleague, Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., almost always votes against government medical benefits. Yet for his own ailments he rushes to the handiest government hospital for bargain-cost treatment.

He even sent his late wife to the National Institutes of Health for free treatment for a brain tumor. Yet when the NIH budget came up in the Senate, Thurmond voted to cut it.

Generous Sammy Davis

Sammy Davis Jr. is well known for a lot of things, including his friendship with the late President Kennedy, his conversion to the Jewish faith, and his starring on Broadway in "Golden Boy."

But what the public doesn't know about him is that on his only day off, Sunday, he has flown all over the United States to help raise money for civil rights.

This weekend, Mayor Jerome Cavanagh has declared May 9 "Sammy Davis Jr. Day" in Detroit, in honor of the Negro with the golden voice, who will be in Detroit to promote the cause of America's conscience fund in combating bombs and bigotry in the south.

In Mississippi alone, more than twenty churches have been bombed or burned, 100 homes destroyed or damaged, eighty people shot at and eight murdered in the last year.

America's conscience fund, with the help of Sammy Davis Jr. is trying to rebuild some of these churches and heal some of these wounds.

Reds Bare Lethal Power, Speed Dominican Revolt

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The chilling lesson the Dominican Republic teaches is the speed with which Communists can move in and take over a revolution.

It is the more startling in this island fight, because the local Red movement is strikingly weak, say U.S. government analysts, and almost wholly confined to the capital city, Santo Domingo.

The Reds are believed to have barely begun their basic work among the farmers, the first priority of Communists who follow the Mao Tse-tung theory of rural-agrarian-base first, then the cities.

Real Communist organizational work began, it's understood, only a few years ago at the tail end of the regime of Rafael Trujillo. A man who knew Trujillo well says the aging dictator brought in three Communists in 1961 to make his government appear "more liberal and open."

Trujillo was assassinated the same year. These Red activists did a technically competent job. A chunk of Red organizers and agents have been brought in since this 1961 beginning, of course. They had a field day under leftist President Juan Bosch, who followed Trujillo.

The Reds began in Santo Domingo because historically all revolutions on the island had been won by the men who controlled the capital city. Red strength is believed greatest among college and high school students.

The Red technique in capturing and taking over a revolt is standard. They join behind a "popular" movement which possesses a great deal of emotional backing among the people but which has a weak organization.

The Communists may keep out of prestige leadership posts at the beginning but quickly move into the key control jobs just below the top.

A major first Red aim: Get things out of control by passing arms to emotional youngsters and to bands of criminals. This creates chaos.

The small but tight-knit group of Reds moves to stir things up every time a settlement seems likely. Red snipers kill native moderates or foreigners—preferably American soldiers or Marines. When it serves their purpose, as in Panama, these Red snipers will kill people on their own side of the revolt. The aim is to keep emotions up and the disorder growing.

Meanwhile, the Reds are promising business groups their interests will be protected if they co-operate or their stores and factories looted if they don't. Farmers are promised land. Students are promised "equality, freedom and an end to foreign domination." The Reds promise promotions to army officers who'll throw in with them. These non-Communist leaders will be discarded when their usefulness is over.

Written Hanoi instructions, for example, specifically order their Red agents in South Viet Nam to win the confidence of business and other leaders, use them, then kill them when the victory is won.

While this is going on, trained Communist execution squads systematically kill officers, police, teachers and other intellectuals, civic and official leaders they believe will be most dangerous to them (pardoning temporarily those they think they can convert).

Mother's Key Ring

Each mother has a key ring
That she keeps close at hand,
A key that opens every heart
That she might understand—
A key that fits the baby,
A tiny little key
That makes him stop his crying
As no one can but she.
So small that he can't even talk
And yet she seems to do
The very things her baby
Would like to tell her to;
A key that fits her five year old
Whose curious delight
Will lead him into mischief
Or some unheard of plight;
But no matter what happens
He will find that she's right there
His big or little problems
To solve or to share;
A key to reach her little girl
Whose imaginary state
Makes her a grownup lady
And she tries to imitate
All of her mother's actions,
She tries on her hat and shoes
And smears on her mom's cosmetics
That she loves so much to use;
A key she holds to the son
Who now is in between,
No longer just a little boy,
But not quite a teen
Who finds the world is changing,
And only mother will he tell
His life not only includes boys
But now a girl as well,
This son who has ambitions
To reach the top of fame
And hold the fans breathless
As he wins a Big League game,
A key to her daughter
Who is growing up too fast
At the door of graduation
Soon her school days will be past
And she prays that the future
When her girl becomes a wife
She can give to her a key ring
To hold her keys of life;
Yes—a mother holds a key
For each child that she has had
And a very special key too
Of love for their dad.
Her keys unlock the doors
That always bid them enter,
For in a happy home
She always is the center,
You can almost hear the tinkle
Of the keys upon her ring
For a devoted mother holds
A key to everything

Prosperity Rise Provides Cheery Start For Meet

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Prospects of rising prosperity and a diminishing payments deficit provided a cherry start here for the spring meeting of the Business Council.

About 100 top industrialists, conferring here with three Cabinet officers and other high officials of the Johnson administration, were due to hear that:

Business activity should advance strongly throughout 1965, bringing national output to the neighborhood of $660 billion for the year — about $7 billion higher than the council's experts predicted six months ago.

Fears of a slowdown, once considered likely in the fall, have receded into 1966. But some council members now warn of a different hazard — heightened inflationary pressures as the boom advances.

Good progress toward eliminating the balance of payments deficit has been made under President Johnson's voluntary program.

Nevertheless Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor is expected to continue his appeal for continued restraint in overseas lending and investment.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Sure, the boxes are the same size, but this one has 55 per cent less air."

FINDING THE WAY

Human Link Needed

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Within the next six months daring astronauts and a whole host of scientists and engineers will collaborate to link two spacecraft in orbit. Some of us who watch with tension know how difficult it is to link men and groups in society into something resembling a unit of understanding. We look for the engineering miracle that can link the broken man and his broken neighborhood.

A generation ago Oscar Blackwelder, a wise observer of mankind, wrote: "Our task is to speak to a broken world. A little word of five letters describes the world. It is the word 'split.' The world is split vertically into nations. Nations are split horizontally into races. Races are split obliquely into classes. Within classes, homes are split as the divorce rates indicate. Within homes are what the psychologists call 'split personalities.'"

To which Paul Tournier in our generation adds: "If we mean to put an end to the deep disharmony of modern life, if we are to help men to become whole in a broken world, if we are seeking a way to a culture in which the disciplines are inspired by God, we do so because He himself is calling us to this task."

It's a humbling moment to see a man who has seemed to be the paragon of success suddenly reveal the divisions in himself. There is the rift between what he had professed and what he really is, between what he said with his lips and what he did with his life, between what he once wanted to be and what he really turned out to be. He seems to be two unlinked craft within the universe of his body.

Or here are a husband and wife who in themselves seem to be successful and yet find it impossible to communicate with one another. Somewhere they lost sight of that important element which held their relationship together and are in danger of becoming lost to each other. Their orbits don't even coincide, let alone finding a linkage of their lives.

The drama is being worked out on every level. There will be heroes in space who link men's scientific contrivances and so take another giant step in helping us to understand the vastness of our universe. At the very same moment we shall need another kind of daring that helps us to link together the rifts in ourselves and in our neighborhoods.

Some of these splits have been carefully hidden and we are afraid to look at them. Some of them stare at us every day. To ignore them is sinful. To gloat over them is despicable. To accept them as inevitable is heresy. To create new ones is to do the work of the devil!

We need a kind of continuing insistence that we are meant to be whole persons, keeping alive the possibility of the healing of mankind and the yearning for reconciliation. The world will watch expectantly to see the spacecraft linked. Now to work as expectantly for the healing of the split in men and neighborhoods.

Letter To The Editor

WILLIAM HOPKINS (President United Cerebral Palsy of Pettis County) — Our organization is one of the participating agencies of the United Fund. Directly or indirectly, in the Sedalia-Pettis County area, it provides services to children and adults with cerebral palsy — which is a condition and not a disease. The condition is caused by damage to the motor center of the brain, through the denial of oxygen at birth or at any time during prolonged periods of high fever or unconsciousness.

In the Sedalia area the concern is centered on children, and it is for these children the budget of the association is based. Through an annual grant to the Children's Therapy Center, located on the ground floor at Bothwell Memorial Hospital, a grant which totals $5,000, the local UCP organization is able to help defray some of the expenses incurred towards giving afflicted children the necessary therapies and social training. Both UCP of Pettis County and UCP of West Central Missouri also provide financial assistance to the new Sheltered Workshop, which is under the supervision of the Children's Therapy Center. Also, through monies provided by United Fund to the local UCP organization several deserving youngsters have and are receiving braces.

Except for speech and articulation cases, the biggest load of the Center is for children with cerebral palsy, it being noted there are 27 of them with this condition receiving services through the Children's Therapy Center. Although the grant provided by Cerebral Palsy is small in comparison to the needs of the Center, and in comparison to the services provided the children, UCP is one of the largest single contributors of the Center.

Of the total amount of funds received from United Fund by United Cerebral Palsy 65 per cent goes to the Pettis County organization, 5 per cent goes to the West Central Missouri UCP, 5 per cent to the state organization, and 25 per cent to the national.

The latter amount provides vital research and grants for training that will eventually bring the day when there will be no cerebral palsy with its braces and the halting, faltering way of life. Each year grants come to Missouri. A total of $75,000 has come back to Missouri the past two years for research at Washington University in St. Louis and Missouri University. Only through the funds sent to the national organization by local affiliates is this program possible.

The West Central Missouri Association of UCP made it possible for the Sheltered Workshop in Sedalia to be started by granting $1,500 towards equipment, rentals, and supplies. The Workshop, located on East Fifth Street, now has eight handicapped young adults working at menial tasks not only to provide income for them, but also to produce a feeling of worthiness which could not exist without the Workshop. After a year, the Workshop has almost become self sufficient. There are a number of applications from other handicapped young people, who will be admitted to the Sheltered Workshop as soon as sufficient work is provided.

The state organization of UCP works closely with the Pettis County organization by conducting training and education in order that local volunteer helpers can do a better job with the cerebral palsied in this area.

It is felt by local officers and board members of UCP in the Sedalia and Pettis County area that United Fund dollars going to United Cerebral Palsy are being effectively spent.

Evelyn Smallwood Is Elected To Head The Future Nurse Club

Evelyn Smallwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smallwood, 310 East Johnson, and a student at Smith-Cotton High School, was elected president of the Future Nurses Club Wednesday afternoon at the annual meeting for the election of officers and presentation of awards held at Flat Creek Inn.

Other officers elected were Connie Green, vice-president; Gertrude Hazel, secretary; Nicki Hayworth, treasurer; Patti Paul, points chairman; Janet Boysel, historian, and Pam Jennings, reporter.

Nicki Hayworth was presented a gift by Miss Frances Ward, director of nursing at Bothwell Memorial Hospital, for 42 hours of time and service given to the hospital. Ruth Henderson was next high with 39 hours.

Miss Ward expressed appreciation to all of the Future Nurses for the hours spent at the hospital and stated that these young girls in their red and white candy stripe uniforms all left a nice impression on the people around the hospital, both the personnel and the patients.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Robert Stewart who gave the welcome, and introduced those at the head table: Mrs. A. J. Campbell, president of the auxiliary to the Pettis County Medical Society, which sponsors the Future Nurses Club and provides the pins and awards given at this time each year; Mrs. John R. Murrell, club advisor; Miss Frances Ward, Mrs. Zula Wright, Mrs. Beulah Lowe, Donna DeMott, president and Margaret Fisher, points chairman.

Donna DeMott presided over the business meeting and election of officers, and presented gifts to her officers, Gayle Ross, vice-president; Teresa Alpert, treasurer; Connie Green, secretary; Ann Murrell, historian; Kay Sprinkles, reporter, and Margaret Fischer, points chairman.

Donna was then presented a gift from her officers by Gayle Ross.

Corsages from the Future Nurses was presented to Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Murrell.

Mrs. Murrell presented the pins to the girls who had earned 75 points. As the names of the girls were called they went to the head table where the pins were pinned on them by Donna DeMott and Margaret Fischer. Receiving the pins were: Beticia Bain, Diane Bennett, Janet Boysel, Lynda Davis, Nancy Doogs, Elizabeth Gerke, Joan Gibbs, Janice Goodnight, Nicki Hayworth, Betty Hogan, Fredna Knull, Barbara Kueck, Kathryn Lowe, Linda Mergen, Zula Wilson, Alice York, Susan York, Diane Sullivan, Connie Merriott, Martha Roberts and Janice Paxton.

Those receiving guards for the pins they had previously received were: Teresa Alpert, Donna DeMott, Margaret Fischer, Estella Gravitt, Connie Green, Gertrude Hazel, Ruth Henderson, Diane Kennedy, Patsy Kroeger, Michele Milster, Anne Murrell, Debra Myers, Patti Paul, Darlene Perkins, Connie Petree, Gayle Rose, Roberta Shull, Diane Sullivan and Patty Fuchs.

The Future Nurses Club, which started several years ago with about 20 girls has grown each year until there were 80 at the beginning of 1964-1965 year, but some, for one reason or another dropped out, leaving at the closing of the year 60 or more members with 57 of that group attending the meeting.

As always there are some seniors this year and that means they will no longer be members of this organization but will go on to whatever careers they may choose. A number of this year's seniors have been in the Future Nurses since they were in the eighth grade.

Among this group of seniors some have chosen the career of nursing and three have been accepted in hospitals for nurses training, Barbara Lanpher and Joan Gibbs will both go to Barnes, Kay Sprinkles to Burge Hospital, Springfield; and Jodelle Shoemaker has her application in one of the Schools of Nursing but has not yet received notice of her acceptance. Three more have chosen work in the field of medicine, Janice Goodnight plans to start premed training, Teresa Alpert, plans to be a medical technician and Anne Murrell will train for social work.

At each place was a clever little clothes-pin nurse and the centerpiece on the table was of bright red carnations, some wearing little white nurses caps. Each girl going into nurses training was presented a red carnation with a cap.

World News In Brief

LONDON (AP)—A British expert on Communist affairs has reported signs of a split between Soviet party chieftain Leonid Brezhnev and Premier Aleksei Kosygin.

Victor Zorza, writing in the Guardian, said the split concerns military policy, and the issue is whether Soviet rocket power has made large ground forces unnecessary.

He cited as evidence a passage in the party newspaper Pravda denouncing any suggestion that rocket weapons had taken precedence over ground troops. This suggestion, he said, had been promoted by Izvestia, the Soviet government newspaper.

Zorza added: "The most likely chief protagonists, to judge from a number of other signs, are Mr. Brezhnev, the party secretary, and Mr. Kosygin, the prime minister."

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China Friday canceled a long-standing deal for purchase of a $27-million vinylon plant from Japan, charging that Premier Eisaku Sato's government is treating it like an enemy.

Notification of the cancellation was made to the Nichibo spinning company, which had made arrangements — to finance the sale through the government-controlled export - import bank.

The Japanese government repudiated the financing arrangement, which would have extended Peking a long-term credit at low interest.

LONDON (AP)—An unframed painting with a minimum price of $224 was sold at auction Thursday for $67,200.

Bonham's, the auctioneers, said the picture originally was entered for sale as the work of a little-known 18th century artist, but it actually was by George Stubbs, the great English painter of horses.

The painting is called "Hunter in a Landscape."

The buyer was a dealer, Hugh Leggatt. Bonham's refused to name the seller.

Seven New Members Initiated By D of I

Daughters of Isabella, Circle 310, held the long form initiation recently with seven members initiated. With Frances Geiser as regent, the candidates were given three degrees in a candlelight service. They were: Carolyn Brownfield, Rose Bahner, Mary Lu Behen, Lucille Cuttler, Margaret Dennis, Cecilia Baugher and Carol Klein.

Refreshments were served by Mildred Nold and her committee, Marjery Dieckhaus, Lucille Cuttler, Rose Pearl Robb, Delpha Self and Susie Westermier.

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. May 12 at Knights of Columbus Hall.

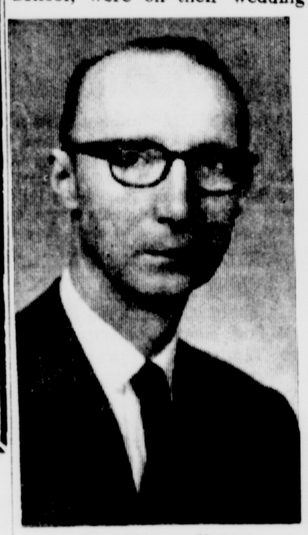
Dr. Homer Vance Honored Man Of Optometrists

Missouri Optometric Association "Man of the Year" award was presented to Dr. Homer B. Vance, Marshall, at its recent annual meeting at Tan-Tar-A, Osage Beach.

Dr. and Mrs. Vance (she is the former Mrs. Mildred Ethridge Momberg), both graduates of Smith - Cotton High School, were on their wedding trip when the award, a bronze wall plaque, was designated for Dr. Vance.



Dr. Homer Vance

Dr. Vance, a past president of the association, was born in Benton County, and attended Broadway Grade School, Martha Letts High School and Smith-Cotton. He was graduated from Southwest Baptist College, Bolivar, and obtained his Doctor of Optometry degree at Northern Illinois College of Optometry, Chicago, Ill. Post graduate studies were taken at Purdue University.

Dr. Vance was cited for his activities as a member of the Missouri governor's medical disaster advisory committee for Civil Defense and as chairman of Missouri Optometric Association committee on civil defense. In November, 1964, he was one of 15 recipients of the Charles Pfizer and Company Civil Defense Pfizer Merit Award at the 13th annual civil defense conference, Colorado Springs, Colo.

A deacon and Sunday School teacher in the First Baptist Church, Marshall, and past moderator of Saline Baptist Association, Dr. Vance is also advisor to the Frank S. Land Chapter, Order of DeMolay, Marshall.

Civic service includes being the past president of Marshall Optimist Club and member of Marshall Lion's Club eyesight conservation committee.

Besides being a member of several professional organizations Dr. Vance is a commander in the Naval Reserve and is an optometric medical service corps member of the Naval Reserve Medical Company 9-4, Kansas City. Active membership in other military organizations include Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion.

The 1958 recipient of the Missouri Optometric Association's president's award of merit and a former trustee of Southwest Baptist College, Dr. Vance accepted the award and presented it to Mrs. Vance whom he introduced to the convention.

Americans Popular For Time Being

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — U.S. trainer jets scream off the runways at nearby Wheelus airbase a couple of hundred times a day.

Nobody's yelling "Yankee go home" these days. The heat is off. It could be turned on again, as it was last year by neighboring Egypt's powerful President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

But for the time being, Libya is one of those countries where they seem to like the Americans.

King Idris I, the remote and patriarchal 75-year-old founder and ruler of modern Libya, keeps in frequent friendly touch with U.S. Ambassador D. Allen Lightner Jr. The queen often phones Mrs. Lightner. The austere royal couple recently invited them to a picnic in the desert.

Wheelus, the last major American military installation in Africa, has other attractions for the Libyans.

It is training Libya's fledgling air force. Together with British bases here, it provides a degree of internal support for the king's regime. It employs more than 1,000 Libyans and operates the only television station in this far-flung land the size of Western Europe.

The women of Libya live in strict purdah and only venture out in public wrapped in shroud-like barracans. Many spend much of their time indoors watching Wheelus television.

The 5,000 U.S. Air Force men at Wheelus live in a sort of self-imposed purdah of their own. The 3,000-acre base, set in a fertile olive and date oasis five miles from Tripoli, has nearly everything they need, from movies and curio shops to schools, a block-long commissary and an 18-hole golf course.

Many of the men almost never venture into town. When they do, unless they're on duty, they go in civvies in order not to tread on the Libyan's new-won national sensibilities.

The United States pays $10 million a year in rent for Wheelus but this is peanuts compared to the oil royalties that started pouring into the national treasury three years ago.

Wheelus and the British bases in Libya contributed half the national budget before oil was discovered. The Libyan government expects to collect $250 million in oil revenue this year.

Nasser kicked off a political storm last year when he charged U.S. and British bases in Libya were a threat to the Arab world and called for their removal.

Libya's then Premier Mahmoud Muntasser took up the cry, and Washington and London finally agreed to negotiate their treaties.

Washington acted reluctantly, under pressure. The British, with increasing commitments in Malaysia and other parts of the world, indicated they would happily reduce their 1,500-man garrison in Libya.

HOME EC AWARDEE —Miss Sandra Winebrenner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Winebrenner, 1210 South Arlington, a junior in textiles and clothing, in home economics at the University of Missouri, Columbia, was awarded a Danforth leadership training scholarship May 3. The award is in honor of William H. Danforth, founder of Ralston Purina Company, St. Louis. Miss Winebrenner will also spend two weeks at the American Youth Foundation Leadership Camp at Stony Lake, Mich., and will be in St. Louis two weeks, observing modern business activities.

Miss Winebrenner was Freshman Curators Award winner, and this year, also was recipient of the Savitar Scholarship.

Windfall Brought By KC E-Tax

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The city is reaping a windfall from its earnings tax.

When the computers completed the task of totaling returns from the first full fiscal year of operations April 30, they showed the E-Tax had come up with $8,989,742 in revenue.

This was far above expectations of city officials, who first figured the tax would yield about $6,370,000 and then revised the estimate to $7.5 million.

Rollin F. Agard, city finance director, said the estimates were low because of the lack of experience with the E-Tax which went into effect, Jan. 1, 1964.

The levy is one-half of one per cent on the wages and salaries of all city residents; the net profits of business earned in the city and money earned in Kansas City by non-residents.

It means wage deductions for about 215,000 persons working in the city, about a third of whom live in the sububs outside the city limits. They paid the largest share of the fiscal year returns, $6,803,378. The tax on business profits amounted to $1,267,326 and individual returns $919,038.

A proposal for a one per cent E-Tax was first brought before the city council in 1952. Such a tax was described as the "most equitable solution to the city's critical revenue situation." It also was pointed out that the rapid growth of suburban living had placed an unfair share of the tax burden on residents who remain in the city.

But when it came to a vote about five years later, the city residents rejected it by a four to one margin in a record turnout for a special election. The suburbanites were happy.

However, the idea of such a tax didn't die. A proposal for a one-half of one per cent E-Tax was submitted to the voters Dec. 17, 1963. This time it was approved by an eight to five majority, 43,366 to 25,867. It went into effect the following Jan. 1.

Sunnyside Extension Hears Miss O'Briant

The Sunnyside Extension Club met recently with other Extension clubs at the REA building to hear Miss Opal O'Briant, who spoke on "How To Save Time."

Before the meeting at the REA building the members met with Mrs. George Raouls. A short business meeting was held and roll call was answered with "A Time Saving Hint."

Mrs. Bobby Moore, 1515 Cedar Drive, was a new member.

The next meeting will be on May 25 at Vermont Park. The lesson will be on Clothing.

McLAUGHLIN Brothers have stepped forward with Sedalia's dressing up and have remodeled their building. A view of the front shows how completely it has changed with the new upper part of an attractive light green which was put on by Dugan's Paint Co. The lower part of the building with the new door and windows of glass was done by Dean Construction Co. On the side is a large sign with the name of the company. Nothing was left undone, for the brick wall on the north side of the building has been painted white and the entire building "stands out" distinctively when approached from either north or south, but particularly from the north.

Kidney Transplant For Mother's Day

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—For Mothers Day, Mrs. Inez Blackman will give her daughter a kidney.

Mrs. Blackman checks into the University of California Medical Center Sunday for the operation which will be performed Tuesday by Dr. John S. Najarian.

The daughter, Mrs. Steven Canty, had both kidneys removed recently. Mrs. Blackman lives in suburban Daly City.

About Town

Arthur R. McQuiddy, staff director of press relations for the United States Steel Corporation, Pittsburgh, Pa., a former Sedalian, visited with friends this week. While a resident of Sedalia he lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McQuiddy and brother, Edgar, at 514 South Kentucky Avenue. The elder McQuiddy was general machine foreman at the Missouri Pacific shops.

In connection with the annual Journalism Week at the University of Missouri, of which Arthur is a graduate, he participated in a Student-Employer Panel Conference in Columbia Thursday with the following: Spencer Allen, news director, WTVI, St. Louis; Bob Broeg, sports editor, St. Louis Post-Dispatch; C. W. Johnson, managing editor, Springfield (Mo.) Newspapers, Inc.; Frank H. King, retired executive editor, Houston Post; Robert R. Meyer, president, Journalism Students Association; Leon Wahlbring, personnel manager, Gardner Advertising Co., St. Louis; Ben F. Weier, publisher, Nevada (Mo.) Daily Mail and President of the Missouri Press Association.

McQuiddy is a graduate of Smith-Cotton High School, and worked for a time on the news staff of the Sedalia Capital.

Retires After Many Years With Sears, Roebuck Co.

Saturday, May 1, was the last day at the Sears, Roebuck catalog office for Mrs. Mildred Bente Goddard, 406 South Quincy, who for the past 26 years has been the manager, the first manager of a Sears catalog office in the Kansas City region. Perhaps what she has meant to the Sears Co. in this region is best described in a paragraph from a letter written by M. A. Getman, general manager of Sears plant in Kansas City, who was unable to attend the party given for her on April 28, because he was on vacation.

"You have been a loyal and effective member of our team in the catalog sales office during these years of development," he wrote. "In fact, you cut the pattern in Sedalia by which we fashioned the offices that followed. We have come a long way in the sales office program and you have been a great part in chartering that way. We want you to know that your efforts are appreciated."

Sedalia was the first store, with Marshall and then another store opening soon after. It was awhile before other stores opened but today there are more than 80 stores, so many that it was necessary to divide into districts, with now six districts in the region. This is District No. 1 with 14 stores.

Mrs. Mildred Goddard

Many people were trained for other stores by Mrs. Goddard in the Sedalia store.

The party was held at Holiday Inn, with D. E. Williamson, supervisor of this district catalog sales office, acting as master of ceremonies.

J. W. Middleton, superintendent of the catalog sales offices, Kansas City, who was still a kid around his home town of Sedalia when Mrs. Goddard opened the first catalog office here, brought the greeting from the general manager and made a talk in tribute to Mrs. Goddard.

Jere Roberts, credit representative, one who trained under Mrs. Goddard, presented her with a dozen American Beauty roses from the credit representatives.

Here from Kansas City, also, was Marvin Benitz, service supervisor.

A set of six pieces of luggage in avocado green, was presented by Williamson from the Kansas City group and managers from the catalog stores in the district all of whom were present: Howard Chappell, Warrensburg; Wayne Dickson, Clinton; Charles Ogle, Marshall; Bill Ross, Mexico, Martin Hoffman, Jefferson City; Dale Clark, Moberly; James Holman, Macon; Mike Lucas, Kirksville; Carl Giddens, Chillicothe; Miss Marge Dougherty, Centerville, Ia., Bill Metz, Independence; Ben Roberts, Lee's Summit, Paul Farris, Raytown, and Francis Burke, who has succeeded her as manager at the Sedalia store.

There, too, were the Sedalia office personnel, the ones who have worked under her, some of them for many years. One, Miss Georgia Sullivan, who has been there 25 years, received a bit of the spotlight, too, that night, a silver charm bracelet with a 25 year charm and $25, one for each year, the first and last in the book being silver, from her co-workers.

Others from the office and their husbands or wives attending the dinner included: Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Dowdy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burford, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sanders, Miss Pearl Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Lindquist, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Lanpher, Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Stohr, Mrs. Elsie Smethers, Willard Woolery and his fiancee, Miss Sharon Underhill, John W. Long, and Mrs. Edna Bolton, who is retired.

From this group Mrs. Goddard received a passport case, for her May 8 trip abroad, and a purse of $26, a dollar for each year. Mrs. Dowdy presented these gifts as well as those to Miss Sullivan. Mrs. Goddard presented Miss Sullivan with her 25 year pin.

The dinner, for all present, was given by the Sears Company.

Born in Otterville, where she grew up and started her first career as a teacher, she still has interests in that community for she owns a home, a filling station and three farms there.

Finishing in mid-year at CMSC in Warrensburg, she moved to Sedalia and finished out the year teaching at Warrensburg when they needed a teacher at that time. Then she went the next year to Martha Letts High School, which was a junior high school, and taught under Miss Letts, a year or so before going into Smith-Cotton as an English teacher.

One year she built the curriculum for the entire school system, and other years she taught special groups. She really enjoyed teaching, Mrs. Goddard said, but it was the rules of the school system that changed her career. Married women were not allowed to teach in the schools of Sedalia at that time, and she married Ray Goddard, who died a number of years ago. So when the opportunity of manager of the Sears catalog office came she took that position.

It is going to be a full summer. She loves to travel and she is starting out with a tour of eight European countries. Going with her is a friend of a number of years, Miss Marge Doughtrey of Centerville, Ia., the only other woman manager of Sears catalog offices in the region. They will be gone a month. Then when she returns she will go on another trip, perhaps to Yellowstone, with two friends, for two weeks. Then she will be home about two weeks and go to visit her cousins, this will result in another trip to Illinois, Wisconsin and Canada, and then later she plans to go to the New England States with friends.

California Park Board Named By City Council

Mayor Ralph Sullins, California, appointed the following new park board members when California City Council met May 3 in California:

RECOGNIZED FOR DRIVE WORK—Mrs. D. H. Robinson, president of the Mid-Mizzou Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, presented a citation of merit Wednesday to E. Glenn Lewis, local businessman who was drive chairman of the muscular dystrophy campaign here this year. Also recognized by Mrs. Robinson were members of the pumper companies of both Sedalia Fire Stations who assisted in the campaign. Accepting citations for the firemen were M. E. Kelley, 1600 West 16th, a driver, and Chester Anderson, 1011 East 11th, a captain. Lewis reported the MD campaign this year exceeded its goal of $2,900.

● Circuit Court

Defendants in a 3½-day civil damage trial which ended April 23 with the jury assessing damages of $88,500 against them have filed motions in Circuit Court for judgments in their favor and alternative motions for a new trial.

Earl and Almeda Wolf were awarded judgments of $13,500 and $75,000 respectively as a result of an auto-trailer truck collision at Clinton Road and South Highway 65 on Sept. 25, 1963.

Motions were filed Thursday in behalf of defendants, Mrs. Eula Mae Harms, widow of Velmar John Harms; and Charles Kast, business partner of Harms. Mr. Harms was driving the car in which the Wolfs were riding and he was killed in the crash.

Friday motions were filed by the other defendants in the case, Charles Mehls, Princeton, driver of the truck; and Southwest Freight Lines, Kansas City, owners of the trailer.

The defendants charge the judgment awarded by the jury was excessive, that the court erred on several legal points and that verdict was ambiguous in that it did not state against whom the judgment was awarded.

Judge Frank W. Hayes Thursday ruled against local veterinarian Venton D. Goodnight in a contract suit he had filed against his former business associate, R. E. Gouge, and Goodnight was enjoined from veterinary practice in Sedalia or a 15-mile radius during a three-year period dating from June 30, 1964.

Goodnight had maintained in his suit that he entered a verbal agreement of partnership on Jan. 1, 1957, with Gouge which terminated a previous written employee-employer relationship agreement.

Hayes held Goodnight failed to prove establishment of a partnership between the two.

The enjoinment from practice here was the result of the court upholding a clause in the written agreement, which provided for such enjoinment should the business relationship be broken.

● Police Court

Robert F. McDonald, 1012 East 16th, charged with driving 50 m.p.h. in a 40 mile zone, pleaded innocent, but after a hearing was found guilty and fined $25.

Lonnie Dixon, Jr., Whiteman AFB, charged with making a loud and unnecessary noise with a motor vehicle, pleaded guilty and was fined $10. The fine was suspended by the court.

---

The case of Harvey L. May, Route 2, Lincoln, charged with driving while intoxicated, was continued to May 12.

An Inspiring Story for Mother's Day:
THE PROXY MOMS OF ELMONT

What's Wrong with Women Bowlers?

No sport attracts more ladies, yet some never improve their game; a housewife-champion tells how to become a tournament bowler—and still have fun

By Mrs. ANN SLATTERY

1965 National Women's Bowling Champion, Bowling Proprietors Association of America

as told to Jack Ryan

NOT LONG AGO, a young housewife weighing about 98 pounds came to me for advice, and, after watching her bowl, I suggested that a heavier ball was the answer.

She protested, but I came right back with:

"Remember what you've done this week? You changed and bathed a 28-pound baby, who fought you all the way. You cleaned the living room, moving heavy furniture. You lugged a 30-pound bag of wash to the laundry. Now you tell me you can't roll a 16-pound ball!"

She could, of course, and did. Like most women bowlers, the only thing wrong was her timidity about using her full potential.

This is National Ladies Bowling Month, and many lanes will have special programs for the country's 19 million women bowlers—3 million of them in sanctioned leagues. From my experience as a professional bowler and a tutor, I know some of them are rolling needlessly low scores because they haven't tried to improve. They say: "You have to practice every day to be good . . . You have to have the power of a man." I say, "Nonsense!"

I started bowling in my late teens in Bingham Canyon, Utah, just "fooling around." I accepted the so-called "women's scores" until I heard a man say about me, "If that girl settled down and learned bowling, she'd be great." My first inclination was to shrug it off—after all, I was just bowling for fun. Then I remembered that we get the most fun out of the things we do well.

So, after moving to Salt Lake City, I took up bowling more seriously and soon was good enough to consider the professional circuit. But bowling paid off in another way. A young soldier who loved the sport heard about the girl with the 171 average. He had to see for himself, so he came out to watch me bowl. I convinced him I was a bowler, indeed, and he was impressed enough to marry me.

Subsequently, I was too busy rearing our daughter Susan to get away from home for the long periods needed for national competition, but I wasn't too busy to keep at my game while tending home and family. (Editors' note: Mrs. Slattery was Woman Bowler of the Year six times in Utah and now has a 193 average.) When Susan, now 9, started school, I was able (thanks to my husband's enthusiasm for my bowling—and his ability to cook) to travel to tournaments.

Over the years, I've discovered some things women bowlers do wrong. Here are the basic corrective tips I give.

1. Let ALL of you bowl. If that 16-pound ball overpowers you, it's not the weight, but the fact that you are using only your arm in delivering it. In releasing the ball, for example, use all your body from waist up in a rhythmic swing. In approaching the line, don't tippy-toe—step forward, letting your legs provide momentum which, in turn, is transferred to the ball. You'll get speed and find that a 16-pound ball is no monster when legs, torso, and arm all work together.

2. Keep your mind on bowling. I find a woman bowler is distracted by chattering teammates, and she tends to be more self-conscious about how she looks than about what she's doing.

3. Strive for accuracy, not speed. A 16-pound ball delivered with all your body should provide enough impact to set the pins tumbling. Don't try to overpower the pins with excess speed—they'll only fall in difficult pocket splits.

In the mania for speed, women tend to lift too high in their backswing. The resulting awkwardness causes them to lose control of the ball. They also tend to relax the wrist as the heavy ball descends. There's no reason for this; a woman ordinarily has the wrist strength to hold it rigid, even against the pressure of the descending ball. And some women release the ball too high, instead of setting it down on the lane. A ball flying into the lane picks up speed, but where it lands nobody knows.

4. Get an expert to smooth out your style. The above pointers presuppose you have a stance that's best for you and that you know whether your wrist is relaxed. Even pros can't determine these points without asking a competent instructor to observe them.

By competent instructor, I don't mean your husband, regardless of average. My husband averages 183 and has an instinct for what's right in style, but he confines himself to cheering me on—and I'm a regular nail biter at his Friday-night league but strictly noncritical. We have friends who have taught us, sadly enough, that marital happiness and bowling advice don't mix.

5. Enter tournaments—not just neighborhood ones, either. I was scared stiff the first time I entered a city-wide tournament. You will be, too—but it's worth it. And do it now; don't wait till you get a "better average." Handicap systems give the housewife a good chance against the champ in most cases. Why should you enter tournaments? Well, you'll find big-time competition sharpens your game; you pick up the fine points from experts; and the motivation brings out the best in you.

Incidentally, I won my first tournament. Maybe you won't, but the best reason of all for entering tournaments is the same reason you started bowling in the first place. It's exciting—and activities that are exciting are fun.

The Bitter Search for Sunken Treasure

GUESTS lounging on the patio of the luxurious new Lucayan Beach Hotel on Grand Bahama Island were recently startled witnesses to an event that called back the rowdy days of Captain Kidd.

One thousand yards out on the water, two boatloads of treasure hunters clashed. One boat carried four young men, nicknamed the Lucayan Treasure Boys, who one month earlier had discovered a sunken-treasure horde of silver coins reputed to be worth $9 million.

The second boat carried a group of Grand Bahama divers and businessmen, led by Rod Rodamski, a one-armed Pole and former RAF Spitfire ace. The second group, later nicknamed the Pirates, were intent upon inspecting the treasure site and perhaps hauling off a few bushels of pieces of eight.

With a fortune in silver at stake, the action was quick and violent. Waving a knife, one of the Treasure Boys picked up a 15-pound grouper from the deck, sliced it open, and flung the bleeding fish into the water. "That blood will attract sharks," he shouted. "Stay out of the water! Keep away from our treasure!"

The Pirates glanced anxiously at the water and conferred. Then two of them, wearing scuba masks and flippers, dropped over the side of their boat. Instantly, the Treasure Boys were in the water, armed with knives and spearguns.

For a minute, the underwater swimmers maneuvered in the clear 20-foot-deep sea. Then two men collided and jostled, and one of the Pirates shot to the surface, shouting that his face mask had been ripped off.

At that point, the local police chief, who had been alerted to the clash of the two treasure gangs, arrived in a boat, blew his whistle, and ordered all the men from the water. He announced that police in a launch would stand guard over the treasure site until the Grand Bahama courts decided who had legal right to the treasure.

This underwater battle, which still is to be resolved in the courts, is part of the boom in treasure hunting which has hit the East Coast of the U.S. Still alive in the dreams of men are the old barrel-shaped Spanish galleons, which came wallowing out of the treasure ports of Central and South America during the 17th and 18th centuries, laden with gold and silver, to wreck themselves on reefs or be burned by pirates.

The discovery of a 1715 mint galleon near Fort Pierce, Fla., with an estimated $1,600,000 in gold and silver aboard, has brought treasure hunters swarming into the area. Grand Bahama expects a similar "gold rush."

In Miami, where many of the treasure salvors buy their supplies, dealers in magnetometers for locating buried metal report their business is booming. Fort Pierce has already been visited by con men selling special electronic pendulums that "scent" gold for the bearer. The market in tattered old treasure maps ("a family heirloom," swear the sellers) is soaring. In local taverns the talk is of treasure divers flipping silver pieces of eight on the bar for the price of a few drinks.

Part of this newborn enthusiasm can be traced to the hurricane season of 1964—one of the worst in 30 years—which churned up the Atlantic and Carribbean bottoms, uncovering many old wrecks. Some of the excitement also is due to the tremendous publicity generated about the Fort Pierce treasure-trove.

The Fort Pierce find is practically a case history of what happens when men hunt treasure—and of the bitterness and anxiety that is the treasure-hunter's lot.

Ten years ago Kip Wagner, a 49-year-old carpenter from Sebastian, Fla., accidentally kicked up a silver "cob" (a piece of eight) while walking along a beach—and caught "gold fever." For six years he searched the beaches between Sebastian and Fort Pierce, checking historical records to pinpoint wreck sites on the offshore reefs.

Finally, four years ago, Wagner got together enough money to start salvage operations and formed a company called Real 8 (from the Spanish ocho reales—pieces of eight). In 1963, after a series of frustrating failures, he joined forces with Mel Fisher, one of the country's most experienced treasure salvors. With new gear costing an estimated $250,000, Wagner intensified his search.

Failure pursued him. The weather was foul. Winter came on, and the water was too murky and rough for diving. Then a treasure diver from nearby Vero Beach came to Wagner and announced he had found one of the wrecks Wagner was hunting. He couldn't salvage the big wreck himself but was willing to split the profit if Wagner contributed his equipment.

A Reluctant Partnership Pays Off

Wagner, according to friends, paced his office, groaning, "I knew it would happen, I knew it would happen." Reluctantly, he agreed to the deal.

The divers continued to search the reefs off Fort Pierce, but even with maps from the new partner, they came up with nothing. It looked as if Wagner would never find his treasure.

Then one day in May, 1964, they hit it! A diver noticed a glint of gold on the bottom, turned it over, and found he was holding a seven-and-a-half-pound gold disk. Other divers joined him. The bottom was covered with coins. In 10 days of frantic work, Wagner and his men brought up more than 3,000 gold coins, a number of gold and silver bars, and so many pieces of eight they had to be weighed in burlap bags rather than counted. Kip Wagner breathed a sigh of relief.

Actually his troubles were just beginning. Notified about this incredible treasure, the State of Florida began to murmur that the treasure was really a natural resource of the state and belonged to all its people.

Wagner had to fight this idea and yet keep news of the treasure to a minimum. Once word got out about the size of it, the market in doubloons and cobs would be ruined.

Treasures recovered from the ocean include, above, a 2,176-link golden necklace with a dragon pendant and, right, a beautiful gold cross studded with seven flashing emeralds.

In the meantime, he needed immediate cash. He had a batch of coins auctioned off in New Jersey for slightly more than $50,000. The auction immediately brought newspapermen swarming to his door, and the coin market began to drop. Shortly after, two of the men who helped locate the treasure sued Wagner for a larger share.

"Kip is a worried man," one old-time diver said recently. "He's worried that the court may not give him his share of the treasure, that someone will steal it or pirate one of the other wrecks he knows about, that the market in Spanish coins will drop completely. He worries a lot."

However disheartened treasure hunters may feel about their avocation, many communities are leaping upon the gold they bring up as a great tourist attraction. In Fort Pierce there is talk of opening a treasure museum. Grand Bahama businessmen are discussing the same thing. Farther north on the island of Bermuda, the tourist-conscious government keeps several hundred-thousand dollars worth of treasure which had been pulled from wrecks on the surrounding reefs in a glass-plated safe in the island's natural-history museum.

Tales abound in all these communities of people accidentally finding treasure, and often the stories are true. Only a year back, a 16-year-old Fort Pierce boy was spear fishing when a small sand shark went by him, flipped its tail, and uncovered three gold coins in the sand. The boy investigated and came up with about $50,000 worth of pre-Civil War coins.

These stories, though not exactly rare, are misleading. Finding sunken treasure is hard, back-breaking work. It can take years to search over a wreck. Teddy Tucker of Bermuda, a portly, cheerful diver who claims to be the world's most successful treasure hunter (the business has earned him close to $500,000), says the key to finding underwater riches is patience.

"So many of the guys get like chickens scratching around," he says. "You've got to do it slow. Before you're finished checking a wreck, you should be able to tell what the crew ate for breakfast and what the captain wore at dinner."

Since sunken ships rapidly fall apart under the onslaught of corrosion and sea worms, treasure hunters usually start their search by looking for clues to a wreck—ballast stones, anchors, the hardware of a ship.

Once a wreck is located, the detective work really begins. Before a diver spends a year or two of his life fine-tooth combing a site, he wants to be sure he has a reasonable chance of striking treasure. To do so, he must learn the name of the ship, how it was wrecked, where it was going, its cargo. The many clues he needs—spoons, collar buttons, medals, pots and pans—can all be checked against records in the national archives in Washington, London, and Seville.

"Once I came upon a ship with jars filled with small human-looking bones. I thought they might be infant-funeral urns," says Teddy Tucker, "but the bones looked strange. Finally I realized they were monkey bones. Some South American Indians pickled monkeys as a delicacy, and a few Spaniards developed a taste for the meat. Knowing this, I could guess the ship's last port."

The sea finds endless ways of punishing the men who seek sunken treasure. Divers going down to a wreck are often followed by barracuda hiding in the shade of the hulk. The dark recesses of a wreck frequently are homes for moray eels, which can tear a diver's hand open to the bone with one bite of their razor-sharp teeth.

For Companions, There Are Sharks

Then there are sharks. "Sometimes the only thing you can see in the water is sharks," says Teddy Tucker. "No matter how many times you see them down there, you can't help but jump when that dark shadow goes by on the sand beneath you. You look up, and there's a 12- or 15-foot brute cruising past your shoulder."

The sea itself may be the treasure hunter's most frustrating enemy. Sudden squalls can wreck a diver's boat. The bottom shifts quickly, and the wreck that lies open for inspection today may be covered with sand or mud tomorrow. Swells and currents can buffet a diver cruelly, spilling him along ridges of sharp coral.

The sea is equally hard on treasure. Salt water corrodes. Precious jewelry crumbles. Silver coins turn rapidly to worthless, black silver sulfide unless they are in contact with some other metal surface which halts the chemical action. The Lucayan Treasure Boys found silver coins, but they were encrusted about an old cannon and still intact. Only gold usually endures underwater.

Frustrated by local government officials, bedeviled by other treasure hunters, buffeted by the sea, treasure seekers often turn into bitter, angry men, suspicious of the world which seems determined to steal their sunken riches.

Why do they continue to search? Teddy Tucker says, "Once you've seen a bar of solid gold glinting in the water, that's a thrill you never forget. You keep hoping there will be another gold bar, another precious jewel tomorrow—and that's the lure that pulls you on."

Lost galleons filled with gold, silver, and jewels await divers in the waters off the East Coast— but the hunt is shadowed with danger, pain, and frustration

Birth of an American

A FAMILY WEEKLY cookbook has a place of honor in Johanna's shining kitchen.

The cookbook is a compilation of beloved recipes from her homeland, once as free as Johanna is now.

"Is very good cookbook," she says. "Real old-country food."

But the real old country Johanna knew is gone forever.

A few years ago, she and her husband and their little son crawled on their stomachs under the barbed wire to escape to America, a country they had never seen and whose language they could not speak.

When the long journey was ended, they had only the clothes on their backs, only the dream fulfilled.

Johanna looks about her home and smiles proudly.

"Now we have life of our own," she says. "In old country, we could never have anything. We could never have car. We could not buy all these fine foods. If someone tells police something, they come and take us away, and we never know why. We were always afraid. We could not bring our children into such a life."

Into this new life, Johanna has brought her son and now an American daughter. Her husband found work, as she did also, hoping Americans would not find her degraded by this labor of her hands.

Johanna, young and eager, feels nevertheless the humble urge to apologize often for her accent or the little gold earrings placed in her ears at birth or her "stupidity" in calling an egg yolk a "yellow," actually a more apt description.

She admits, too, regret for the loss of loved ones left behind, for the remembered happiness of Friday-night concerts, Sunday-night gatherings over tiny cups of strong coffee, the blessed patterns of a life which is no more.

But out of a mother's strength and courage, she has achieved a home and a free future for her children and her children's children.

How many among us would crawl through water under rifle fire for the privilege of liberty?

Johanna did. She stands as a living symbol of what we take for granted.

The American Dream.

Traditional Cakes That Will Live Forever

Apricot Dream Cake is a white cake specialty destined to become a favorite with homemakers. Feature it at teatime.

Cook's Notes for Cake Making

1. Prepare pans—For cakes with shortening, grease bottoms of pans only; line with waxed paper cut to fit bottoms and grease the paper. For cakes without shortening (sponge type), do not grease or line pan unless specified.

2. For the shortening-type cakes, tap bottoms of cake pans sharply with hand or on table to release air bubbles before placing in oven. For sponge-type cakes, cut through batter to break large air bubbles.

3. Test cakes for doneness by inserting a cake tester or wooden pick in center; tester should come out clean. Or lightly touch cake at center; cake springs back when done.

4. Cool shortening-type cakes 10 min. in pan on cooling rack after removing from oven. Invert cake onto rack, remove from pan, peel off waxed paper, invert cake, and cool completely on the rack.

5. Cool sponge-type cakes inverted until completely cooled unless otherwise directed. Remove from pan by carefully cutting around tube and sides of pan.

Apricot Dream Cake

2 cups sifted cake flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1¼ cups sugar
½ cup hydrogenated vegetable shortening
1 to 2 tablespoons very finely chopped crystallized ginger
1½ teaspoons vanilla extract
1 cup milk
3 egg whites
1½ cups apricot preserves
1 pkg. dessert topping mix, prepared according to pkg. directions

1. Blend the first three ingredients and 1 cup of the sugar; set aside.

2. Beat shortening, ginger, and extract together. Add dry ingredients and milk; beat until all flour is dampened. Beat 2 min. with electric mixer at medium speed or 300 vigorous strokes by hand; set aside.

3. Using clean bowl and beaters, beat the egg whites until frothy. Gradually add the remaining sugar, beating well after each addition. Beat until stiff peaks are formed.

4. Add egg whites to batter and beat 1 min. longer, or 150 strokes by hand. Turn batter into two prepared (see cook's notes) 8-in. round layer-cake pans and spread evenly.

5. Bake at 375°F. 20 to 25 min., or until cake tests done. Remove from oven to cooling racks. Remove cake from pans and cool completely.

6. Fill and frost top of cake with the apricot preserves. Frost sides of cake with the prepared whipped topping. One 8-in. layer cake

Pound Loaf Cake

2 cups sifted flour
¾ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground mace
1 cup butter
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
1½ teaspoons vanilla extract
½ teaspoon almond extract
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar
4 eggs, well beaten

1. Blend the first four ingredients; set aside.

2. Cream the butter, lemon peel, and extracts together. Gradually add the sugar, creaming well after each addition. Add the well-beaten eggs in fourths, beating thoroughly after each addition.

3. Beating until blended after each addition, add dry ingredients in fourths to creamed mixture. Turn batter into a prepared (see cook's notes) 9½x5¼x2¾-in. loaf pan. With spatula, draw batter from center toward edges of pan.

4. Bake at 325°F. 1 hr. 10 min., or until cake tests done. Cool and remove from pan.

One 9x5-in. loaf cake

Devil's Food Cake

2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine
1½ teaspoons vanilla extract
1½ cups sugar or firmly packed light brown sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
3 sqs. (3 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled or use 3 packets (3 oz.) unsweetened product for chocolate baking or 3 envelopes (3 oz.) no-melt unsweetened chocolate-flavored ingredient
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon red food coloring

1. Blend the first three ingredients; set aside.

2. Cream the butter or margarine and extract together. Add the sugar gradually, creaming thoroughly after each addition. Add eggs in halves, beating thoroughly after each addition. Blend in the unsweetened chocolate.

3. Beating only until smooth after each addition, alternately add dry ingredients in fourths and milk in thirds to creamed mixture. Blend in the food coloring with final few strokes until mixed.

4. Turn batter into two prepared (see cook's notes) 8-in. round layer-cake pans and spread evenly.

5. Bake at 350°F. 30 to 35 min., or until cake tests done. Cool and remove from pans.

Two 8-in. round layers

Note: Red food coloring or an excess of baking soda will produce a red color. The excess soda also imparts a distinctive flavor.

Devil's Food Cupcakes

Follow recipe for Devil's Food Cake. Line 24 to 26 2½-in. muffin-pan wells with paper baking cups or grease bottoms of wells. Fill each about two-thirds full. Bake at 350°F. about 20 min.

Sunshine Cake

1½ cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
6 egg yolks (about ½ cup)
1 teaspoon lemon extract
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1½ cups sugar
½ cup cold water
6 egg whites (about ⅞ cup)
1 teaspoon cream of tartar

1. Blend the first three ingredients; set aside.

2. Beat the egg yolks, lemon extract, and lemon peel together, then gradually add the sugar, continuing to beat until mixture is very thick and lemon colored.

3. Beating just until blended after each addition, alternately add the dry ingredients in thirds and the water in halves to the egg yolk mixture; set aside.

4. Using a clean bowl and beater, beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff, not dry, peaks are formed. Fold egg yolk mixture into beaten egg whites until blended.

5. Turn batter into ungreased 10-in. tubed pan and cut through batter with knife to break air bubbles.

6. Bake at 325°F. about 1 hr., or until cake tests done. Invert pan and let cake hang until cold.

One 10-in. tubed cake

"Banana Split" Cake

A teen-age love!

Prepare 1 pkg. yellow or white cake mix and bake batter in two 9-in. round layer-cake pans. Cool cake completely. Cut each cake layer into halves forming two layers. Place one layer in a 9-in. springform pan. Spoon slightly softened chocolate ice cream onto layer. Carefully spread evenly almost to edge of cake. Spoon caramel topping over ice cream; cover with split bananas and additional topping. Place second cake layer over all and press gently. Using vanilla ice cream, pineapple topping, and bananas, cover second layer. Press third layer over all. Using strawberry ice cream, chocolate fudge topping, and bananas, cover and press top layer in place. Set in freezer until firm. Remove rim of pan. Frost cake with marshmallow cream and cover with chopped nuts. Garnish top with maraschino cherries with stems. Chill until ready to serve. One 9-in. cake

Bittersweet Spice Cake

2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground allspice
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ground coriander
¾ cup butter or margarine
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
½ teaspoon almond extract
2 cups sugar
4 eggs, well beaten
1 cup milk
5 sqs. (5 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, grated

1. Blend the first seven ingredients thoroughly; set aside.

2. Cream the butter or margarine and extracts together. Gradually add the sugar, creaming thoroughly after each addition. Add the eggs in fourths, beating thoroughly after each addition.

3. Beating until blended after each addition, alternately add dry ingredients in fourths and milk in thirds. Fold in chocolate until blended.

4. Turn batter into two prepared (see cook's notes) 9-in. round layer-cake pans and spread evenly.

5. Bake at 375°F. 30 min., or until cake tests done. Cool and remove from pans. Two 9-in. round layers

Bringing Up Baby®

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Babies are human beings and react as human beings. For example: even the tiniest tots seem to sense, and are affected by tension, worry or angry exchanges between tired or overwrought parents. And, if this state of affairs is persistent, the baby may develop a corresponding tension. While most of us let off steam occasionally, it's the wise parent who keeps a raised voice out of baby's earshot.

Dan Gerber on Vegetables. "Year in and year out, Gerber Agricultural Researchers work with leading seed companies and growers to improve the quality, color, flavor and nutritive values of your baby's vegetables. Our special Gerber Squash is a good example of this experimentation. After years of selective cross-breeding, we were able to produce a vastly superior type of squash. Gerber Squash has a deep, rich color and a delicate, sweet flavor. Most important, the vitamin-A value and the vitamin-C content were increased. This is but one of many projects conducted in the interest of better infant nutrition. When you buy Gerber, you're sure of your money's worth in nourishment." Gerber® Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

You make up your own mind. Nobody tells you. Not even Tampax®. We wouldn't dream of it. We think, we hope, we fondly believe, that this product lives up to your love of freedom. But you do the deciding. Tampax has no shields, contours or belts, pins, hooks. It doesn't need them; it's worn internally. In other words, Tampax is pretty simple. # Mia Farrow Says: "I Want Everything!"

Maureen O'Sullivan's beautiful daughter sometimes is a teen-age chatterbox—but behind the facade lies an ambitious actress who will fight for her career

By PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

"I'M NOT supposed to let you in —but I guess it's okay," Mia Farrow explained when she opened the door to her modest Beverly Hills apartment.

"And why not?" I asked actress Maureen O'Sullivan's beautiful teen-age daughter, who within the last 18 months has made debuts on Broadway and television and in the movies.

"The studio thinks I sometimes say what I shouldn't, so they'd like you to wait until the publicist arrives," she explained—but then added quickly, "Oh, come on in anyway."

Inside, she introduced me to Malcolm, her deaf Persian cat, who sometimes goes to work with her. She also told me about her horse, turtle, dogs, and hamsters. "Once I had 37 hamsters in Mother's linen closet," she remembered. "I took the linen out and put sawdust and chicken wire on the shelves. When my father found out, I had to get rid of them. He said they didn't exactly go with the house."

Mia chattered on delightfully in this vein for about half an hour. Despite her seeming unsophistication, I could see she was more than a chatterbox. There was a strain of inner strength in her which had enabled her to fight for her career in show business.

Mia's late father John Farrow was a director, but he was so set against her acting that she didn't even tell him when she went into show business. "The only time I brought it up, he got very angry and insisted that he never had seen a happy actress. He wanted me to stay away from it," she told me.

BUT MIA always has been a girl with a mind of her own, and theater was one of her first loves. At eight, she put on plays, rounding up the neighbors' children for the casts. The neighbors were Judy Garland, Ann Sothern, Charles Boyer, and Bette Davis!

There were three brothers and three sisters in the Farrow household, but Mia was always the loner of the group. "I've been independent since the day I learned to tie my own shoelaces," she told me. "I even had my own strange knot because I wanted to do them myself. People never understood me, not even the other kids at school.

"Yet I'm not unhappy about it because I realized quite early in life that every one of us is alone. During any crisis one goes through, everyone else is left on the shore. It's your boat, and nobody else can get on it. People are great, and there are times when you need them. But you can't place too much trust in them because they are liable to fail you."

Mia's first professional contact with acting occurred when she got the role of Cecily in a Broadway revival of "The Importance of Being Earnest." Favorable comments on her performance reached Hollywood, and she subsequently made a film, "Guns at Batasi." But she turned down a number of offers for movie contracts. Then along came the offer of the role of Allison McKenzie in television's "Peyton Place." As Mia put it, "The part was so unlike me, it offered a professional challenge I couldn't resist."

Mia is so busy with the "challenge" of her work that it is easy to forget she is still a teen-ager. In fact, Mia probably would like to forget that herself.

WHEN SHE first announced to the family that she was going to move into her own apartment, her mother was worried that she wasn't old enough for the break. "No one realized that I was really grown-up and that I can cope with things very well," Mia told me. "Nowadays Mother is more at ease because we talk on the phone nearly every day. She calls whenever she thinks I'm in trouble—and she's almost always right!"

Before she let her daughter have her own place, however, Maureen O'Sullivan insisted that she have a button installed which Mia could press to summon the police. Said Mia, "So far, I haven't had to push the button, but it's good to know it's there if I need it."

Men are beginning to interest Mia. "I had my first date in New York last year," she says. "I won't say that I don't like young men, but I feel more at ease with older ones."

Her current "older" interest is Frank Sinatra, who is old enough to be her father. The pair's dates might have been kept secret, except that Mia herself let the news slip out during an interview with a syndicated columnist at 20th-Century Fox.

Returning to the commissary from a phone call, she said that she had just talked to the man she loved—and on further questioning, admitted it was Frank Sinatra. When this tidbit turned up in print, one columnist commented, "Frankie's still plenty fast on his feet, and I don't think she'll catch him!"

What are Mia's hopes for the future? "To be quite honest, I want everything," she says. "I want marriage and children. I want a career, too. I want to be happy. And somehow I feel sure that I will be."

The freckles on her cheeks crinkled up over a fresh, unsophisticated smile as she said this. I could only think: I hope you get your wish, Mia.

Here's how a group of dedicated "teacher-moms" are performing miracles—through love

By THEODORE IRWIN

THREE MORNINGS a week, Mrs. Sandy Bianco, a 45-year-old housewife and the mother of two teen-agers, walks a mile from her home to a makeshift school in Elmont, N.Y.

There, for three hours, the slender, dark-eyed woman works patiently with eight-year-old Tommy, a brain-damaged boy who might otherwise be confined in a mental institution.

When frail, undersized Tommy first met Mrs. Bianco last fall, he wouldn't speak, refused to look at her, kicked and punched other children, couldn't read or write. Now, comforted by her warmth and gentle understanding, he has quieted down. As Sandy Bianco plays a record for him, Tommy hums. Sitting on her lap as she reads to him, he smiles and occasionally utters a word.

The school psychiatrist says Tommy is making tremendous progress and someday may join other pupils in a normal classroom without disrupting them.

"I pretend these unfortunate children are my own," says Mrs. Bianco, "and give whatever they need—especially a kind of mothering-love, which seems to have a great healing power. Often it's hard going, so I ask God for guidance to help me reach the child I'm working with."

Mrs. Bianco is one of 38 volunteer "teacher-moms," all housewives with no previous teaching experience who are pioneering in Elmont's remarkable Project for Exceptional Children.

Conceived for emotionally ill youngsters whom public schools couldn't handle, the project gradually eases the "unteachable" children into social and school life. The Elmont concept—that a community has a responsibility to educate all children—may revolutionize the thinking of educators and legislators throughout the nation.

When the idea was broached six years ago by Dr. George T. Donahue, Elmont's assistant superintendent of schools, the entire community pitched in. The local Kiwanis Club paid for special equipment, milk and cookies, and other expenses. With no space available in the schools, the Elmont Jewish Center provided rent-free classrooms. Doctors gave medical and psychiatric help. Since the town (population 45,000) couldn't afford a teacher for each child in the project, teacher-moms were recruited—mature, emotionally stable women who had raised their own youngsters successfully.

"I joined when my own kids were off at school and because I believed the project would be a wonderful form of fulfillment for me," Mrs. Bianco recalls. "These 'sick' children have to be saved. They needed mothering, and that was something I could give them."

Mrs. Bianco's first "case" was Billy, to whom she devoted more than a year. Curly-haired, blond, and blue-eyed, Billy was mildly retarded, hyperactive, and easily distracted. Under Sandy Bianco's schoolmothering, he began to join in other children's games. With the help of dot-to-dot pictures and letters, he started to write legibly. He learned to read words when his teacher-mom slowly spelled them out.

In one year, Billy gained the equivalent of three years in reading comprehension. He also progressed far in arithmetic, spelling, and writing. Today he attends a regular fifth-grade class and is well-liked by other pupils.

Much tougher was Mrs. Bianco's second assignment, which took almost two years. Dave was a "peculiar-looking" boy with a head much too large for his body. His saucer-eyes didn't converge properly, he wrote vertically instead of horizontally, and he couldn't concentrate on a subject for more than a minute.

BECAUSE his first-grade teacher couldn't control him, Dave stayed out of school —until his parents brought him to the teacher-moms project.

"At first," says Mrs. Bianco, "Dave couldn't sit still, and I had to chase him around the room until I cornered him. By then I was exhausted."

Ingeniously, the teacher-mom employed a variety of techniques. Using a clock, she'd tell the boy he must work for five minutes, then he could do as he pleased. Gradually, his attention span was increased. Then Mrs. Bianco devised cardboard "windows" so he could read a line at a time and taught him to write by touching raised letters. It took months before Dave understood what he was reading.

"The change in this boy was amazing," Mrs. Bianco relates. "At first, he used to cringe at any physical contact, but after a while I could tell he liked having my arm around him. After Dave 'graduated' to a normal classroom and our principal visited his class, Dave said to her, 'Are you going to tell Mrs. Bianco good things about me so she can be proud?' I guess I'm still an abiding influence."

Another child in the Elmont project hadn't uttered a word for months until one day his teacher-mom suggested that he make the rounds of the classrooms announcing a break for cookies and milk. Proudly and eagerly, little Joey accepted the mission. For the first time, the teacher-moms heard Joey speak up: "Snack time! Snack time!"

"It was so moving," says Mrs. Bianco, "that I felt the tears come to my eyes. The other teacher-moms had goose pimples."

End results of the project thus far are much more substantial than goose pimples. Of the 31 children who have attended, 17 have been returned to normal classrooms full-time and five others part-time at their appropriate age-grade level.

MRS. MADELINE DORN, the project's energetic principal, observes, "These children would otherwise be excluded from school and preparations for life, probably ending up in institutions, so we are doing a salvage job."

The project's importance has won recognition in the form of a $25,000 federal research grant, and Elmont's experiment is emerging as a blueprint for other communities. Throughout the nation, at least half a million children suffer from serious emotional handicaps. But only one out of 125, the National Association of Mental Health estimates, receives any kind of teaching in private or public schools.

Thanks to the Elmont pioneers, teacher-moms now are serving in Superior, Wis.; Carmel Valley, Calif.; and New Rochelle, N.Y. Fifty other cities have evinced deep interest.

For dedicated teacher-moms like Sandy Bianco, helping salvage the "unteachables" is profoundly meaningful. "It gives a purpose to my days," she says. "I feel as if I'm putting out my hand to a child groping in the dark and leading him into the sunlight."

Her husband Martin, a telephone-company employee, is understandably proud of what Sandy is doing. Their daughter Bonnie, 18, took a summer job at a camp for the handicapped, evidently inspired by her mother's experiences. Their son Robert, 14, now does his homework without nagging. And as a teacher-mom, Mrs. Bianco has learned to be more tolerant with her own children—"thankful they are normal enough to go to school."
